HIDE IDENTITY
AFTER DEATH IN DENTIST'S HOME
Husband Tells of 3
Year Separation.
Mrs. George Herman Ruth, estranged wife of Babe Ruth, America's baseball idol and member of the New York Yankees, was burned to death Friday when fire swept the home of Dr. Edward H. Kinder, a dentist, at Watertown, a suburb. Her identification as Mrs. Ruth was not made until today, a few hours before she was to have been buried as Mrs. Helen Kinder. She was known and accepted by residents of the neighborhood as the wife of the dentist.
Dr. Kinder was reported missing today. He has not been seen in Watertown since he talked with Police Chief Milmore of that town yesterday morning, the day after the fire. The police admitted tonight they would like to examine him to clear up a few phases of their investigation, but were quick to deny, as were officials of the district attorney's office and the medical examiner, that there was any hint of criminality in connection with the actual death of Mrs. Ruth.
Died from Suffocation.
Medical Examiner West declared that Mrs. Ruth died from suffocation and burns. The state fire marshal's office found that the blaze, apparently, originated in a partition under the room which Mrs. Ruth was occupying on the second floor, possibly from "overloaded" electric wiring. Rumors of incendiarism and possible foul play, apparently springing from the mixed identity in the first place, were declared to be absolutely false by all those connected with the investigation.
Watertown police said some one told them yesterday that Mrs. Ruth and the so-called Kinder were one and the same. They communicated their information to District Attorney Bushnell and he assigned state detectives to make an inquiry. They went to South Boston, where Mrs. Ruth's mother, brother, and two sisters live, and took the sisters, Catherine and Nora, to Watertown today. They positively identified the body as that of Mrs. Ruth.
"Babe" Ruth was notified yesterday in New York that his wife was dead in the fire and he arrived here this morning in response to the summons of John P. Feehey, his close friend and attorney.
Ruth Tells of Separation.
Ruth was visibly shaken when he stepped from the train and refused to talk to reporters. He was accompanied by friends to the Hotel Berwick, where he gave out the following statement:
"I have not lived with my wife for three years. In that period I have only seen her a few times. I have done everything to comply with her wishes. Her death is a great shock to me. That is all I wish to say."
He read the statement, written on a piece of hotel stationery, in a voice that quivered. After he finished he begged his hearers not to ask him further questions. He said his wife went to South Boston to live with her parents after their separation.
Brother Says They Were Married.
Mrs. Ruth and Kinder had been living at the Watertown house for about a year and a half, neighbors said. William A. Kinder Jr., a brother of Dr. Kinder, also a resident of Watertown, told the police that his brother and Mrs. Ruth were married in Montreal, but he could not say definitely when the ceremony was performed.
That is one of the questions the police would like to ask Dr. Kinder, inasmuch as there is no record here that Mr. Ruth ever obtained a divorce.
Ruth's friends declared the Montreal marriage to Dr. Kinder, if true, was news to him. Dr. Kinder had told his brother that he was going to New York to break the news to Ruth, but the police have an idea that he may be in seclusion in this vicinity.
At the Woodford home in South Boston, where Mrs. Ruth, whose maiden name was Helen Woodford, lived before her marriage to Ruth, it was said she frequently visited her close friends, "a doctor and Mrs. Kinder," in Watertown. Members of the family, when asked about the funeral arrangements, said they would be left to Ruth.
Daughter in School.
Dorothy Ruth, 9 year old daughter of the Ruths, is now at a private school or convent in Weston, fourteen miles outside of Boston. In Water-

MRS. BABE RUTH FIRE VICTIM

MELLON'S NAME ALREADY PINNED TO CABINET SEAT

Retention by Hoover
Now Certainty.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—I am now enabled to state authoritatively that President-elect Hoover has asked Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon to retain his portfolio in the Hoover cabinet and Mr. Mellon has accepted.
For weeks, the cabinet guessers have been guessing Mr. Hoover would retain Mr. Mellon. All uncertainty is now dispelled by information from an unquestioned authority that Mr. Mellon will continue at the treasury indefinitely after March 4 next.
Mr. Mellon is the only member of his official family whom Mr. Hoover has selected, up to date. He has about made up his mind, however, with regard to several others, though no announcement is expected for some time, possibly not till the eve of his inauguration.

Fletcher Has Edge.

The man who is said to be uppermost in Mr. Hoover's mind for secretary of state is Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Italy who was drafted to pilot the Hoover good will mission through South and Central America. Ambassador Fletcher is widely regarded the most accomplished member of our foreign service. He is an authority on foreign relations, a specialist on Latin-American affairs and served as undersecretary of state in the Harding administration. He made a tremendous hit with Mr. Hoover on his tour of the other Americas.
Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico, has not been seriously considered for secretary of state up to date, it is learned, because of his desire to continue his work at Mexico City. He is extremely proud of his accomplishment in bringing about a rapprochement between the United States and Mexico at a moment when the relations of the two governments seemed close to the breaking point over the Mexican laws confiscating American properties. He has told Mr. Hoover that it will take about two years more to complete the job.

Concession to Business.

In the opinion of those conversant with the relations of the two men, the selection of Mr. Mellon for secretary of the treasury is a concession by Mr. Hoover to the business interests. Mr. Mellon represents an element of business men whose philosophy of views of public questions do not coincide with Mr. Hoover's. Compared with Mr. Hoover, they are reactionaries.
Mr. Hoover has had frequent collisions with Mr. Mellon's closest business associates and with Mr. Mellon himself. He incurred the dislike of the big coal operators, of whom Mr. Mellon is one, by the part he took in bringing about the Jacksonville coal mining wage agreement which favored the union.
Mr. Hoover earned the ill will of the international bankers by opposing the cancellation of the war debts Europe owes the United States and by advocating the curtailment of private loans to Europe, except for consoling purposes, which meant the withholding of loans of military purpose and for balancing budgets. He clashed with Mr. Mellon himself on the settlement of the French war debt on the basis of fifty per cent cancellation, which Mr. Hoover held to be lenient in the light of French capacity to pay.

Sought to Balk Nomination.

Hence, it was not surprising that Mr. Mellon and big business generally moved heaven and earth to prevent the nomination of Mr. Hoover. When they failed, they got in line for Hoover, whom, in comparison with Mellon, they regarded the lesser evil. And almost immediately big business began a drive for the retention of Mellon as secretary of the treasury.
Our prosperity was ascribed in no small degree to Mr. Mellon's wise and far seeing administration of national finances, particularly in connection with the liquidation of the public debt left by the war. Big business and big business, whose pulse Mr. Hoover is accustomed to feel through the medium of the chamber of commerce of the United States, manifested with impressive unanimity the feeling that the retention of Mr. Mellon would steady business conditions and promote a continuance of prosperity. And Mr. Mellon was entirely willing to yield to the demand for his retention. He loves his work, in the

STRESENREUTER SECRETLY TAKES BRIDE IN DETROIT

Frank M. Stresenreuter, 2440 Lake View avenue, was married yesterday last Friday, it was learned yesterday. The bride was formerly Mrs. Florence Mabel Du Pierre of Cleveland, and that is all the information Mr. Stresenreuter would vouchsafe.
"I am tired of all the publicity brought on me by the members of my family and intend to avoid it in the future," he said.
The former Mrs. Stresenreuter obtained a divorce secretly in May of 1927, and before the secret was out she married Count Carlo Chigi Albani Filippini, to whom she is still wed.
Mr. Stresenreuter's two daughters, both were married secretly. In 1924 Marjorie, who was then 16 years old, announced that she was Mrs. Paul Butler, and the following year her older sister, Maxine, announced that she had been Mrs. Gene G. Culver for 10 months. Mrs. Culver has since been divorced.

War Day Foes Join Hands as Brother Yanks

Amid handclashes of friendship between men who ten years ago were foes on the battlefields of France, the German World War Veterans' association was organized yesterday in Prudential hall at North avenue and Halsted street.
Sergt. Berger Loman (congressional medal), who bayoneted five Germans, took their machine gun, and turned it on them, shook hands with Feldwebel Otto Schwarck, who got the Kaiser's Iron cross for his effective fighting against the Americans. Corporal Mike Cullen (D. S. C.), put the staff of a huge, silk American flag into the hand of Fred Lindner, formerly of a famous German guard unit. Six men in the blue-gray uniforms of the German army faced a half dozen in the khaki of Uncle Sam. And thus the new organization came into being to make better American citizens out of the men who once fought for the Kaiser.
Friends Once More.
Suddenly the ceremonials were over and the Germans and Americans were playing like brothers, as it were, slapping one another on the back, acting up generally as soldiers will.
But before all that there were speeches by David L. Shillinglaw, state commander of the American Legion; Judge Joseph Burke, former commander of Blackhawk post; Otto Kern, president of the German military society of Chicago, and others, and a reply by Mr. Lindner, who is to be commander of the new German organization. It was explained that only men who fought with the Germans at the front and who have now become American citizens or who have taken out their first papers, are eligible to join.
"I would have you become real Americans," said Commander Shillinglaw. "These foreigners who became our greatest citizens gained their positions because they became genuine and not hyphenated citizens. Our flag does not stand upon hyphenated principles or hyphenated thought. German blood has enriched our land because of its high qualities, and we welcome you as new citizens."
Ready to Fight for U. S.
Judge Burke told the veterans that the occasion signified that the old blood hatreds were blown away and gone; and then Mr. Lindner made his reply.
"We fought for our native land while we were Germans, and now we are Americans and proud to be one of you," he said. "We will fight just as staunchly for America, should she ever need us, as we did for Germany. If we were not that kind of men you would not want us."
Further meetings of the new organization are to be announced.

YALE INSURES FACULTY AND CLERICAL STAFF; COST FIVE MILLIONS

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—President Angell of Yale university today announced that the university has offered a group life insurance to the faculty, administrative heads, and the clerical and service staff. The university will pay a substantial part of the premium.
The amount of insurance involved is about $5,000,000, one of the largest programs ever arranged in any university or college.
Provisions for the faculty and the administrative staff are based upon a classification of positions with a minimum of $5,000 and a maximum of $10,000. The insurance became effective on Dec. 13, the relative premium for one month being paid by the university. After next week it will remain in force only for those who have expressed a willingness to share the cost of the premium with the university.

FRENCH WOMEN SCENT PERIL IN ARMY POSTERS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PARIS, Jan. 13.—The black peril is threatening to undermine French manhood, according to irate feminists who, after looking on helplessly at the recent race of colored entertainers, are now vehemently protesting against posters pasted on the walls in all parts of Paris by the ministry of war, setting forth the advantages of enlisting in the French colonial army. The chief attraction of these posters is a voluptuous undraped negress, whose charms, according to the feminists, are calculated to induce not only bachelors, but also the heads of families, to drop everything and rush to the nearest recruiting station.
"Such indecent propaganda is demoralizing our husbands as well as our youth," the suffragettes told Minister of War Paul Painleve yesterday.

Hunt Two Brothers After Shooting of Two Brothers

Vito Palumbo, proprietor of a poolroom at 2159 West Harrison street, and his brother, Tony, were sought early this morning by Marquette police after the shooting of Ernest and Louis De Luca, also brothers, of 2151 Lexington street, in the poolroom last night. The police were informed that Tony Palumbo shot Louis De Luca in the groin and Ernest below the heart after an argument over a card game. The condition of Louis was reported critical at the West Side hospital.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The engagement of Princess Martha of Sweden to Crown Prince Olaf of Norway was officially announced today. Princess Martha, who was born on March 28, 1901, is the daughter of Gustaf Charles, brother of King Gustaf of Sweden. The crown prince was born on July 2, 1905.

FIREMEN CLIMB 400 FEET TO FIGHT FLAMES

Tower of New Bank Ablaze in Loop.

Flames last evening burst out in the tower of the new Foreman National Bank building, under construction at Washington and La Salle streets, converting the top of the 40 story structure into a blazing inferno. Firemen from twenty companies staggered about numbly in the bitter cold struggling with hose lines as the frigid northwest gale fanned the flames 400 feet above the ground. Thousands of citizens saw the flaming spectacle high over the loop.
Blazing beams were torn away by the high winds and more than an hour showered the streets and roofs for several blocks around. While the firemen high above fought the actual fire, others were busy putting out smaller blazes on adjoining roofs.
Spilled Coals Start Fire.
A workman on the 34th floor had accidentally overturned a salamander full of glowing coals, kept there to prevent soot freshly poured concrete from freezing. The coals spread over a large tarpaulin, and the high winds whipped it at once into a blaze. Once started, the flames spread before the freezing wind as though fed with gasoline, seizing on the wooden scaffolding all through the top of the building.
Within a few minutes the whole upper part of the building, from the 34th to the 42d story, was ablaze.
In the streets adjacent to the structure a fire was hardly discernible save for flying embers and pulsing fire engines that pumped the water up through the odd odd stories of steel and stone to the men fighting the flames at the top.
Firemen Climb Up to Blaze.
The firemen, when they arrived, found there was no way to get their hose lines to the blaze except to carry them up the steel stairways from story to story. There was a hoarse order from Fire Marshal M. J. Corrigan, another from Deputy D. J. Carmody, and the men started plodding their way upward.
After they reached the sixth story they were constantly in danger of being struck by burning timbers that came crashing down through the center of the building. When they reached the open above the thirtieth floor, the bitter wind whipped them with fury, driving them to cling to anything they could seize.
Battle Flares at 9 Below.
Their eyes watered in the cold wind, the moisture froze on their cheeks, their bodies and hands were numb; they could only grimly cling to the hose and turn the nozzles towards the roaring flames that did not even seem to warm them as they fought on. It was 9 below zero.
Hose attached to city fireplugs led into twenty engines and these pumped the water up to the men in the tower through the staircases in the new structure, the Conway building next door, and other nearby buildings.
Down in the streets, where the flames could hardly be seen, several hundred persons, mostly men, braved the cold in an effort to watch the battle far above. They shivered in doorways and along the sides of windows—where the police would let them stand—seemingly fascinated by the fact there was a roaring caldron of fire away up in the sky, although they wouldn't have known it but for the blazing wood that came flying down, the engines, and the hoarse shouts of firemen.
Watch Fight from Roofs.
Tops of nearby office buildings and upper story windows held other who—up there—could get the fire, thrill sought. But these spectators were few.
During the first half hour, before the firemen won any measure of control over the flames, sparks rode the wind, showering against the Morrison hotel tower at Clark and Madison streets and other buildings a black or more away. One blazing timber fell on the roof of the Morris Plan bank, many stories below, and the roof for a short time caught fire. Another burning timber was swept into a fourth story window of the Conway building and a fireman had to go up a fire escape to put out the flames there.
It took almost two hours for the

One of the bitterest and most prolonged cold snaps in recent years clutched Chicago throughout yesterday and last night. The 9 below zero weather contributed to the deaths of three persons, sharpened the misery felt by thousands of the poor, and hampered the work of firemen, who answered 175 alarms during the day.
"Snow and rising temperature was the forecast for today, but the promised respite appeared to be brief, because the forecast was for colder again tomorrow."
The mercury went below zero at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. Eight hours later, with the sun bright overhead, the mark was 9 below, and a bitter north wind swept the almost deserted streets and coated windows with heavy frost.
24 Hours of Subzero Weather.
As afternoon wore on the temperature climbed a degree or two, but early last night it settled back to 9 below, a mark recorded only once before on Jan. 13 in Chicago, and that forty years ago. At 9 p. m. the temperature had risen one degree to 3 below zero and there it hovered until 11 p. m., when an unofficial thermometer showed another rise of one degree to 7 below. At 2 this morning, with the mercury at 5 below, Chicago had experienced a 24 hour cycle of temperatures well under the zero mark. At 5 a. m. the temperature had climbed to zero and snow was falling.
The relief promised for today by Forecaster J. R. Snyder of the weather bureau will be timely, for the Sunday closing of public and private agencies of charity left hundreds of families in distress. Mr. Lloyd predicted the wind would veer to the southwest after daybreak, pushing the temperature to 20 degrees above by noon.
While the county welfare bureau, the United Charities, and other relief organizations were closed, the police stations and rescue missions swarmed with hundreds of homeless persons.
Three Deaths Laid to Cold.
The death of Mrs. Johanna Fleske, 70 years old, of Edgar, Wis., was the first attributed to the cold. While struggling against the wind to reach the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carl Johnson, 3414 Cregier avenue, after attending church, Mrs. Fleske collapsed from exhaustion and exposure at 87th street and Cregier avenue. She died before neighbors could carry her to shelter.
The cold deprived six children of their father when Cuno Schislatello, 38 years old, 2143 West Harrison street, collapsed in an alley at 48th street and 524 avenue, Cicero. He was frozen to death when he was found. The third to die was Alphonse Quinlan, 54 years old, a tailor believed to have been a Detroit resident. He was found dead of exposure in a hallway at 651 South Morgan street.
Hands and Leg Frozen; May Die.
One of four men treated for frost bite and exposure at the county hospital was reported in critical condition. He is Joaquin Nieto, 33 years old, a commercial photographer of 909 South Ashland avenue. Nieto was found unconscious in an alley at 921 South Marshfield avenue with one leg and both hands frozen. Surgeons said they would be compelled to amputate if he lives.
The other three victims at the county hospital were reported in critical condition. (Continued on page 14, column 2.)

town the child was known as Dorothy Kinder. It was said Ruth probably would visit his daughter tomorrow.

Accounts of the fire in the Kinder home said that Dr. Kinder was attending the boxing matches at the Boston Garden that night and that "Mrs. Kinder" had declined to go because of a cold. A passerby saw the fire and sounded an alarm. A fire captain and a policeman fought their way up a smoke and flameswept staircase when neighbors told them there was a woman in the house.

They found the woman, face down, in her nightgown, on the floor of a bedroom on the second floor. She was still alive when they brought her out, but she died at a neighbor's house before doctors reached her. The death certificate gave her name as Mrs. Helen Kinder on information furnished by Dr. Kinder. Dr. Kinder was found at the boxing bouts and was told his wife had been injured. He collapsed when, on reaching Waverly, he was told of her death.

Married Babe in 1914.

Mrs. Ruth, whose maiden name was Helen Woodford, was married to the baseball star in 1914, the same year in which he broke into the big league as a left handed pitcher with the Boston Red Sox. She was 16 years old at the time. She first met "The Babe" while a waitress in Lander's Coffee House, in the Back Bay district.

When Ruth began creating a furor by his record-breaking home run exploits in 1919 and 1920, Mrs. Ruth sought to evade the spotlight thrown on her husband. She gave one interview in 1920, however, in which she said that four children had been born to them, all of whom had died in infancy.

In the spring of 1922 she belittled published reports that she and the "Babe" were considering divorce and a few months after that the home run king surprised his teammates and friends by appearing at the ball park one day with a baby girl whom he described as his daughter, Dorothy. Later it was said she was an adopted child.

Suffers Nervous Breakdown.

Partly because of ill health which caused several major operations, Mrs. Ruth led a much more secluded life than her celebrated husband, although they appeared together in public occasionally. She suffered a nervous breakdown in September, 1925, when he was suspended for the rest of the season for alleged violation of training rules.

Soon after that reports that the two had separated were denied by the home run king but the following winter it became known to his close friends that the baseball player and his wife had agreed to go their own ways.

WOMAN KILLED, POLICEMAN HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Squad Car and Limousine Crash on Avenue.

A woman was killed early yesterday and a detective received perhaps fatal injuries when a limousine collided with a police squad car on Monroe street and Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Hilda Kruger Kyle, 52 years old, 6028 Dorchester avenue, widow of Robert Thomas Kyle, former chief chemist for Libby, McNeill & Libby, was fatally injured. Sgt. Thomas Benn, 32 years old, 2140 Fremont street, received a skull fracture in the accident.

The death of Mrs. Kyle and two others increased the 1929 Cook county auto death toll to 27.

Cars Crash on Avenue.

The limousine, driven by Herbert Lisk, in which Mrs. Kyle was returning from a shopping trip, was going east on Monroe street across Michigan avenue, and the police car was moving northward in the avenue. Detective Roy McDonald, in a vain attempt to avoid the collision, reversed his car sharply east. The two machines collided, but both remained upright. Each driver insisted the green light had given him the right of way.

Miss Katherine Drake, 50 year old daughter of John B. Drake and niece of Tracy Drake of the Drake hotel, and two young men companions, were injured early in the day when an automobile in which the three were riding to a masquerade ball, collided with a second machine at 32nd street and the outer drive. Miss Drake, who received severe cuts and bruises, was given first aid at St. Luke's hospital.

The other injured are Roger B. Shaw, 21 years old, son of A. W. Shaw, publisher of 1415 State parkway, and William N. Lewis, 26 year old, of St. Louis Mo. They were also treated at St. Luke's hospital.

Pedestrian Killed; Driver Flees.

Peter Kokron, 39 years old, 1014 Altgeld street, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile at Lincoln avenue and Altgeld street, while trying to board a street car. The driver fled. Police sought Frank Muscia, 4146 North Bernard street, to whom the license plates were issued.

A well dressed unidentified man about 60 years old was found fatally injured in front of 3523 West North avenue early this morning. He apparently was the victim of a hit-and-run motorist. He died at the Key-stone hospital.

HOLDUP VICTIMS DISARM BANDIT; GIVE HIM BEATING

Thomas Hayes, 22 years old, 4518 West Congress street, had the tables turned on him last night when he attempted to hold up three men in a house at 232 South Leavitt street. As he was robbing his victims at the point of a gun, one of them caught him off his guard and disarmed him. The three then pounced on him and gave him such a beating that he had to be taken to the Bridewell hospital.

Edward Leonhart is the man who grabbed the robber's gun. His companions were William Beagle and Henry Rodgers.

23 NAVY PLANES REACH MEXICO ON WAY TO CANAL

Key West, Fla., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Twenty-three navy seaplanes of the aircraft squadron scouting fleet, under the command of Lieutenant Commander Capehart, arrived at Puerto Morelos, Mexico, at 1:30 p. m. today, en route to the Canal Zone for maneuvers with the naval flotilla, said a wireless message received here by Capt. Robert W. McNelly of the 7th naval district here. The planes took off from Key West at 9:30 a. m. today.

FIREMEN BATTLE 40 STORY BLAZE IN SUBZERO WIND

Fight Flames in Tower of New Loop Bank.

Firemen at the top of the bank structure, working painfully upward from floor to floor, to extinguish the flames. They came down at last, exhausted, numb and stiff, their hats and rubber coats covered with ice.

Damage Put at $3,000.

Edwin Foreman of the Foreman bank and Henry Paschen, head of the construction company which is erecting the building, stated last night that the fire would not delay the construction.

"Nothing was burned except the timbers of temporary scaffolding used in construction work," said Mr. Foreman. "Mr. Paschen assures me that there was no damage to the permanent structure. Despite the fact that it was a spectacular blaze, the actual damage probably will not amount to more than $3,000."

FIRE 35 STORIES UP.

New York, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Five men and a young woman were marooned on the observation platform of the Woolworth tower, 33 stories above the street, this afternoon by a fire which started on the 55th floor. Fire department officials declare the blaze was the highest in the history of New York.

Edward J. Link of Sunnyside, L. I., and his sister-in-law, Miss Margaret Shields of Bay City, Mich., were two of the six who were on the tower observation platform.

Mr. Link noticed wisps of smoke curling up from below. Sensing something wrong, he went to the door of the stairway leading down through the tower. The stairway was thick with smoke. He tied a handkerchief over his face and hurried down the circular stairway. At the 55th floor he saw the machinery stop the elevator shaft a mass of flames. All escaped after some delay and without injury.

Optometrists for Law to License Auto Drivers

A law requiring the licensing of all automobile drivers was advocated yesterday by a committee of the Illinois Society of Optometrists at the opening of its annual convention yesterday in the Congress hotel. Resolutions for the legislation and also for a law against the unsupervised sale of ready made spectacles will be presented to the convention, which closes tomorrow night.

Coroner Herman N. Bunderson will address the optometrists today.

EMIL FUCHS, OF ARTISTIC FAME, ILL, TAKES LIFE

Fires a Bullet Into Heart Amid His Works.

New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Emil Fuchs, noted painter and sculptor, shot and killed himself today in his duplex studio apartment on the top floor of Les Artistes at 1 West fifth street. He was 61 years old and had been suffering from cancer.

A few minutes after noon, the artist, clad in underwear, trousers, and slippers, stepped out of his bedroom on to a small balcony overlooking his private gallery, the walls and floors of which were covered with much of the work which had made him known throughout the world.

Put Pistol to Heart.
He sank into an easy chair, turned to a tobacco stand at his left hand, and scribbled in pencil a note to Miss Emma Fuchs, his sister. With the aid of a hand mirror, brought from the bedroom and found later, he aimed a pistol at his heart, the police surmised.

The note read:
"You can see with your own eyes that I am going down every day. You would not like to see me wasting away much more. As it is now, I am already a burden to myself and a burden to my surroundings."

"There are moments in this life when we have to accept in humble resignation what is decreed to us. To live longer would only mean prolonging my agony."

The sculptor was operated on last June for internal cancer.

This morning he telephoned Miss Fuchs to say that he did not feel hungry and that he would prefer to have his luncheon well on in the afternoon. A few minutes before 1 o'clock she telephoned him and received no answer. Worried, she hurried to the apartment. She discovered his body.

Funeral arrangements were held in accordance with the reading of Mr. Fuchs' will, which rests in a safety deposit vault.

Mr. Fuchs' estate is said to be "probably not less than $500,000."

Born in Vienna.

Mr. Fuchs was born in Vienna, Aug. 4, 1868, the son of Leopold and Josephine Fuchs. He wrote verses and sketches in his youth.

Upon his parents' death, he moved to Berlin and within a year obtained a scholarship in the Royal academy.

Later Wilhelm, it is said, then made a practice of going from studio to studio and advising the artists about their work. It was not long before the young artist was commissioned to do an equestrian statuette of the Kaiser.

He delivered the first of many commissions from the royalty of various nations.

The empress liked his work and enabled him to get commissions from the court jewellers. He won a traveling scholarship that took him to Rome, where he devoted more time to painting.

It was in Rome in 1896 that he created what he once referred to as his finest sculpture, "Mother Love," depicting a woman pilloried on a cross.

95 Merchants Accused in New Electric Meter Racket

Ninety-five merchants were named yesterday by Louis Newman as the beneficiaries of a new "racket" in which he reduced their electric light bills by turning back their electric meters.

It was estimated by the Town Hall police that he and the merchants had defrauded the Commonwealth Edison company of between $50,000 and $75,000.

Captured in Store.

Newman, who is 23 years old and lives at 4825 North Avers avenue, was arrested Saturday at the Irving Berlin dress shop, 3944 Sheridan road, by agents of the Commonwealth Edison company. He was taken to the Town Hall police station, where he said he manipulated the dials on the meters, making it appear that the electricity bill of the place was smaller than it actually was.

He gave the police the names of forty places in which he had operated. Then his wife, Mrs. Ray Newman, appeared at the station and asked to be allowed to speak with her husband. The police advised her to induce him to make a complete confession, and after she had gone Newman wrote with an infant clutched in one arm. It won the gold medal of honor at the international exhibition, was acclaimed in London, and was brought to this country in 1925.

Queen Victoria summoned him to Windsor in the spring of 1900. She inspected his work and gave a number of commissions to him. After 21 years in London he came to America, largely because of the world war.

down the names of fifty-five more places that had conspired with him in his racket.

May Collect Whole Bill.

Capt. Hugh McCarthy said that in all probability no criminal action would be taken against the merchants, but that they might be forced by the Edison company to pay all the money due on the bills.

The 95 places where Newman said he turned back the meters included drug stores, garages, restaurants, filling stations, and various classes of stores and shops.

6 Armed Robbers Battle New York Police; 1 Caught

New York, Jan. 14.—[Special.]—Six armed bandits held up the proprietor, patrons, and waiters of the Royal restaurant at 410 West 162d street early this morning, and as they were escaping fought a pitched battle with policemen and detectives. Five of the gunmen escaped, taking with them about $450. The sixth man was arrested.

FAMOUS FRONTIER GUNMAN IS DEAD AT HOLLYWOOD

BY GEORGE SHAFER.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Wyatt Earp, slim, erect, forceful, last of the celebrated frontier gunmen whose guns blazed on the side of law and order, died peacefully in his Hollywood home in the arms of his wife early today. A heavy cold, followed by complications, caused his death.

Earp was known and lionized by some of the leaders in the film colony. Bill Hart, who was his friend for years, was summoned by Mrs. Earp to assist in the funeral arrangements.

Earp's shooting exploits became part of frontier history around Tombstone, Ariz., where he was deputy United States marshal, and at Benson, Ariz., the ready guns of his brothers, Virgil and Newton, sometimes saved his life as he saved theirs.

Wyatt Earp came to the southwest from Monmouth, Ill. The family originally had been from Virginia by way of Kentucky. The brothers went to Arizona before the civil war. Wyatt Earp for a time was city marshal of Dodge City, Kan., while the late Bat Masterson was sheriff there.

Earp plunged from a last time into that stormy life that surrounds the frontier, during the Klondike gold rush in the late nineties. Wyatt Earp went serenely through the turbulence that marked life in Nome, where he won a reputation for gameness, competence, and squareness.

BOOTH REFUSES TO QUIT; COURT FIGHT FEARED

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Gen. Bramwell Booth was understood today to have completed his reply to the Salvation Army high council, which will be carried to Sunbury-on-Thames by his wife tomorrow. He flatly refuses the high council's proposal to retire as commander of the Army, it is stated. Legal advice which the general has received during the last few days indicates his position is now a legal one.

FOUR CONVICTS ADMIT HOLDUPS; LOOT $200,000

Escaped Felons Confess Many Robberies.

Police last night obtained confessions of four convicts in custody at the detective bureau and thereby solved a dozen burglaries and holdups, committed mostly during the last two months, in which the loot totaled nearly $200,000. The men who confessed are:

Jimmy Martin, 52 years old, 6408 Lateral boulevard, an escaped convict from Polson penitentiary, California, where he was serving a life sentence for murder.

Benjamin Sakis, 43 years old, 2322 Commonwealth avenue.

Jack Morris, 35 years old, 2609 Lake Park avenue.

Jimmy Burke, 25 years old, of Blue Island.

The last three men are also escaped convicts from Polson where they were serving 25 years for safe blowing. About two years ago the prisoners walked off the Polson honor farm.

Pawnbroker in Custody.

Police also have in custody Meyer Gordon, owner of a jewelry store at 703 North Clark street, who confessed that he had bought most of the loot. The men were captured Friday by Lieut. William Cusack and his detective bureau squad after police had from Polson penitentiary, California, been informed that they had robbed the Fifth department store at Indianapolis of $6,000 on Dec. 27. After their arrest they confessed to this robbery also.

Confess Many Robberies.

Their confessions include the following robberies: Olson & Egan jewelry store, 6520 South Halsted street, robbed Nov. 22, 1928, of $25,000 in jewelry; Sidney Rason's jewelry store, 925 East 47th street, robbed Nov. 20, of jewelry valued at $5,000; the home of Mrs. Bertha Jordan, 2122 LaSalle avenue, robbed Nov. 30 of jewelry valued at $10,000; Charles Gregory, robbed Nov. 14 of $9,000 in jewelry and cash; Wilson & Co., packers, 42d street and Ashland avenue, robbed Oct. 14 of $5,000.

Numerous safe burglaries were admitted, among them the burglary of the home of James C. Bolter, steel manufacturer, 222 Deming place, Dec. 12, of $5,000; in jewelry; the Nemark hat shop, 142 North State street, robbed July 9 of $600; Walgreen Drug store, 201 South Clark street, Jan. 10, robbed of $360; and Hays, Roebuck & Co., 624 street and Western avenue, robbed Aug. 27 of $29,000. Evanston crimes confessed to were the burglaries of the homes of P. H. Thilbrick, L. A. Hamilton, H. N. Rogers, and C. H. Heaney.

KIDNAPED

MRS. MARY P. ZEEK.

While walking to evening services at the Fourth Presbyterian church last night, Mrs. Mary P. Zeek, 45 years old, 10 East Elm street, was kidnapped by four armed men and forced into their automobile. She was then driven to the offices of the Draper & Kramer Real Estate company at 341 East 47th street, where she is employed as cashier, and forced to open the vault. The robbers got only $50. Angered over the small amount of money in the safe, the robbers cursed the woman and knocked her under a desk. Howard Thomas, a colored janitor, saw the departing robbers and fired a shot at them. They returned the fire as they drove away in their car.

Find Drinking in Finland Doubled by Prohibition

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
HELSINKI, Finland, Jan. 13.—According to official statistics the customs authorities in 1928 seized 1,000,000 liters (a liter is 1.06 quarts) of alcohol on the Finnish coast. Customs officials estimate the seizures represented one-tenth of the entire traffic, consequently in 1928 the consumption of alcohol in Finland roughly was 9,000,000 liters of alcohol, which is more than twice the amount of Finland's consumption before prohibition.

MELLON'S NAME ALREADY PINNED TO CABINET SEAT

All Uncertainty About Retention Dispelled.

performance of which he is daily reminded by a multitude of admirers, he is the greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton, if not a greater one, as some are beginning to say. He loves the social contacts of official Washington, in which he is an outstanding figure.

Whether William J. Donovan will get the post of attorney general is now the principal subject of speculation in official Washington. From the viewpoint of the politicians, Col. Donovan, who is now assistant to the attorney general, deserves the place, for the reason that he is not only qualified for the first law office of the government, but that he performed political services for Mr. Hoover which entitle him to the highest reward in the gift of the President Elect.

A Catholic and a Wet.
Mr. Donovan, who is a Roman Catholic and a wet, was instrumental in lining up influential bodies of Catholics and wets for Mr. Hoover in the election campaign. And in the pre-convention campaign he was an outstanding original Hoover man.

A determined drive against the appointment of Col. Donovan to any place in the cabinet, and particularly to that of attorney general, is being made by the Ku Klux Klan and other Protestant organizations and by the dries. They have warned Mr. Hoover not to place the prosecution of prohibition cases in the hands of an attorney general who, like Donovan, is notoriously wet. What excites the dries all the more against Donovan for attorney general is the possibility that the Hoover administration will cause congress to transfer prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the department of justice.

Would Fight Him in Senate.

It has been suggested that Mr. Hoover might avoid trouble with the dries by appointing Donovan secretary of war, the colonel being not only a lawyer but a warrior so redoubtable in action that he earned the sobriquet of "Wild Bill." But his friends doubt that "Wild Bill" would accept a consolation prize, even from his friend Hoover. Even if Mr. Hoover defies the Klan and the dries by appointing Donovan to the cabinet these elements will fight confirmation by the senate to the last ditch.

Los Angeles Man Figures.

Figuring conspicuously in cabinet making speculation is the name of Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles. Mr. Robinson is a lawyer and banker, a director in a number of big public utilities and other industries, and a former member of the shipping board. He took a prominent part in the work of the Dawes commission, of which he was a member. He is a close friend of Mr. Hoover, who has caused him to be drafted repeatedly for public services.

Another Californian and friend of Mr. Hoover—Ralph Palmer Merritt of Los Angeles—is being boomed for secretary of agriculture. He raises rice and raisins on a large scale and was a food administrator under Hoover. Whether Mr. Hoover is disposed to replace Secretary of Agriculture W. M. Jardine, who was largely indebted to Mr. Hoover for his selection originally, is a matter on which there is much guessing.

Mr. Jardine fell out with the corn belt farm organizations over the McNary-Haugen bill, but his views are in line with Mr. Hoover's. Not without significance, however, is the fact that it was not Mr. Jardine so much as J. R. Howard, former president of the American Farm Bureau federation, who counseled Mr. Hoover on farm policies in the election campaign. Howard is being boomed for the agriculture portfolio.

URGES ELEVATED AIR TERMINAL ON NEAR WEST SIDE

Goodman Advocates Site in Business Area.

Construction of an elevated flying field in the area bounded by Roosevelt road, Canal, Des Plaines, and Harrison streets, just west of the new postoffice site, was proposed yesterday by Benedict K. Goodman, investment banker and builder of the new $17,000,000 South Water street market.

Mr. Goodman proposed the project in a letter to the Chicago Association of Commerce, pointing out that such a field would have distinct advantages over a field on the lake front. The site, three-fourths of a mile long and a half mile wide, now is covered with old, inexpensive buildings and could be purchased cheaply, he declared. By elevating the aviation fairway on concrete structures, he said, street traffic underneath would be uninterrupted.

Near Postoffice Site.
Mr. Goodman emphasized the significance of an air terminal adjacent to the postoffice.

"This would assure the speedy arrival and departure of mail planes to and from all parts of the country," he said.

"In addition, passenger, freight and express handling would be greatly expedited, landings being made directly in the near heart of the business area, and as close to our business districts as our present railroad freight terminal and passenger stations.

While the proposed airport off 16th street in the lake is a worthy project, Mr. Goodman said, he pointed out that it would not be nearly so practical as a west side field.

Opposes Trucks on Boulevard.
"I do not fancy the spectacle of heavy duty freight and express trucks crossing and recrossing Michigan boulevard in order to load and unload their cargoes," he continued. "This traffic should be handled in an area given over to business and contiguous to all railroad stations, river terminals, and industrial and commercial warehouses."

Mr. Goodman recommended that the association of commerce appoint a committee of business men to make a study of the west side project and to ask the city administration to hold up all activity on the lake front field until such a survey is completed.

Two Seized After Staging Holdup with Cigaret Case

James Houlihan, 21 years old, 5303 South Carpenter street, and J. E. Orsowski, 18 years old, 2511 West 44th street, were captured by Stockyards police yesterday shortly after they had held up Arthur Dhooge, 2706 North Spaulding avenue, with a cigarette case shaped like a revolver and robbed him of his automobile and $30.

MODEL IS QUIZZED IN ASSASSINATION OF REDS' LEADER

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 13.—(U. P.)—Mexican communists were making every effort tonight to turn the assassination of Julio Antonio Mella, Cuban radical student leader, into a weapon for a so-called "anti-imperialist" campaign in Latin America.

Meanwhile Tina Modotti, well known and popular photographer model, who was with Mella at the time of the shooting, was detained by police for questioning. José Magrinas, a Cuban emigrant, also was held at police headquarters.

Miss Modotti scoffed at hints that the murder was a "crime of passion." She said she lived with Mella, and added:

"It is infamy when they try to make this a sentimental case. Mella was a pure, idealistic boy who fought for his principles."

SNOW SHOVELERS HELP PLANE IN RACE WITH TIME

City officials of Madison, Wis., shovelled drifts from the municipal airport yesterday in the zero cold and two pilots of the Universal Air lines broke flying records between Madison, Chicago and Cleveland last evening to enable Frederick Schnell, Madison radio expert, to overtake a train to Washington. Mr. Schnell missed the only Madison train to Chicago yesterday that would enable him to reach the capital this morning for a conference between representatives of the department of commerce, federal radio commission, and national aero chamber of commerce.

Madison is a regular stop on the Minneapolis-Chicago route of the Universal lines, but the pilot yesterday had orders not to land at Madison on account of the drifted airport. After telephone conferences Mayor Schmedeman and a crew shoveled off a plot and the plane landed.

HAIL EMMERSON AND EXIT SMALL; JUBILEE TODAY

Throng Springfield Hotels for Inauguration.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—(Special.) Tomorrow's inauguration of Louis E. Emerson with the simultaneous retirement of Len Small to private life bears in advance all the earmarks of an enthusiastic jubilee.

The capital city is rapidly filling with a throng of smiling, cheering arrivals whose remarks indicate that they may be here to celebrate the Republican primary victory last April more than the triumph over the Democrats in November.

The Emerson suite at the Abraham Lincoln has been swamped all day, hundreds of callers, most of them emotional and many of them bringing flowers.

Wherever one goes the comment is heard that there was nothing of this sort eight years ago.

That there is a different spirit manifest just as there was at the opening of the general assembly a few days ago.

Emmerson Suite Homelike.

The central figure in the picture, the governor elect, spends the whole afternoon and evening with Mrs. Emerson at his side most of the time receiving visitors, simply and graciously. The air is social rather than political, for there appear to be no conferences.

The absence of this sort of activity is attributed to the belief that he intends to spend three, or even as much as six months if necessary, to build up his administration machinery in the way that he wants it.

They understand that on Tuesday, following the inauguration, he will name three or possibly four of his eleven departmental directors—those that must be made known immediately in order to relieve the chief small lieutenants of their responsibilities—and that he then will begin to take up with his personal and political friends the building up of the rest of the new administration.

Find Some Worries.

It is known that the governor elect already has met some difficulty in persuading men of his choice to drop their life work and at a sacrifice enter the state service.

The governor elect was sorry to hear that Senator Charles S. Deneen and Secretary of the Interior Roy O. West had been kept at Washington by important business, and also to be notified by Senator Otis F. Glenn, who arrived today, that he would be compelled to return to the national capital at midnight by an urgent summons from Senator Borah.

That leaves Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, elected congresswoman-at-large, the only one of the state's new members of Congress at Washington who will be here for tomorrow's ceremonies, as Richard Yates, her colleague, sent word several days ago he would not be able to be here.

The only new report today concerning Mr. Emmerson's appointments was that H. H. Cleveland, a Rock Island banker, may be named director of public works to replace Cornelius R. Miller. That office directs road building.

All Factions Except Mayor's Represented at Inauguration

Mayor William Hale Thompson and other leaders of the old Thompson-Crowe-Galpin "America First" organization, shattered at the elections of 1928, apparently will be thinly represented when Gov. Elect Louis E. Emerson is inaugurated at Springfield today.

Virtually every other faction of the Republican party in Chicago was represented in the delegations which boarded fifteen special trains for the state capital last night. More than 2,000 politicians, from precinct captains to congressmen, made up the small army streaming southward to take part in the festivities. The largest groups were Deneen followers.

Find Trip Inconvenient.

Illness in his family, it was explained, prevented Mayor Thompson from going, while Mr. Crowe and Mr. Galpin are out of the city. Most of the mayor's city hall chieftains found it convenient to stay at home.

The only group bearing a semblance of Thompsonism was that of Bernard W. Snow and Charles V. Barrett, the new Snow-Barrett offshoot of the "America First" family, said to be hopeful of salvaging the organization in time for the city and county campaign two years hence.

The Springfield trip was interpreted as the first overture to the new state administration.

Mr. Barrett, with Louis H. Behan, south park commissioner, left Friday in a special car while the main Snow party of 200 took two special trains over the Illinois Central last night.

Among those invited were Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [4th], Ald. Leonard J. Grossman [5th], Charles Ringer, and Henry Chase.

Mrs. McCormick on Way.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, recently elected congresswoman-at-large from Illinois, arrived in Chicago yesterday en route to Springfield. She will return and spend several days at her home here.

Many Deneen followers, as well as a delegation of Brundage men, climbed onto one of the Springfield bound trains.

State Representative Edwin B. Bederman had charge of a ten car special carrying 100 Deneenites from the northwest side, including Harry Huff, Edward Goetz, Albert Otto, Fred Bohn, John McKeene, and Norman Hanson.

Another Deneen delegation, headed by Charles W. Verrell and James J. Cullen, departed on a "Cook county Republican inaugural special" a few minutes later.

Thomas C. Wallace, clerk of the Circuit court, had charge of a "Brundage special" of fourteen cars. This train carried Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, Edward J. Brundage, Gen. Nathan W. MacChesney, Sheldon Clark, George Woodruff, Louis Nettleshorst, County Commissioner Francis Boutell, and Ald. A. K. Mose [5th], John J. Hoellen [4th], and Albert Loeschner [44th].

The west side was liberally represented by parties on two special trains called "West Side Elevated Highway Booster Specials." Most of those in these parties were followers of Dr. John Dill Robertson, president of the west park board.

Both the Hamilton club and Union League club sent big parties on two special trains. The Hamilton club has charge of the inaugural ball at the Springfield arsenal tonight.

Nearly 100 passengers were aboard when the Hamilton club's special left the Union station shortly before midnight over the Chicago and Alton road.

Heading the party with Will J. Bell, president, were James Edgar Brown, chairman of the club's political action committee; Royal N. Allen, chairman of the transportation committee; Al T. Gilbert, vice chairman of the transportation committee; George W. Dixon, chairman of the reception committee, and L. K. Torbet, vice chairman of the reception committee.

150 Cars from Chicago.

On the Union League club train were President Benjamin F. Affleck, Mark D. Shanks, Loy N. McIntosh, Wallace E. Wigan, John H. Cook, Dr. William E. Buehler, Joseph Panter, and Arthur A. Dixon.

A group of labor officials representing 40 Chicago labor organizations left on a special I. C. train last night. The appointment of Tom Maloy, business agent for the Moving Picture Operators' union, as boxing commissioner is being urged by the union representatives.

Passenger agents for the Illinois Central and Chicago and Alton railroads, carrying most of the delegations, estimated that 150 cars would be filled with Chicago politicians. The trains left at half hour intervals, starting early in the afternoon yesterday. Most of them will be sidetracked near the arsenal and kept on a siding there until Monday night.

PERSIA LOSES 500 IN BATTLES WITH WARRING TRIBES

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

TEHERAN, Persia, Jan. 13.—Severe losses in military campaigns against nomad tribes and revolutionists in the last few months have caused the authorities to adopt doubly strict measures in conscripting Persians for army service. All men who reached the age of 21 this year are compulsorily enlisted for two years.

Attempts at evasions are being met with stern resistance. Moslem priests, who are largely responsible for organizing protests against compulsory military duty, are being thrown into prison.

News has leaked through the censors that the fighting of Persian troops against a nomad tribe half way between Shiraz and Bushire continues, with the losses on the Persian side reaching 500. The losses of the tribe are not known, but it is said they are not many, since the wild men fight from behind large stone fortifications high in the mountains, while the troops are in the valleys.

There are no bargains in health

To safeguard precious health and preserve your teeth, avail yourself of the best skill and knowledge of dental science. It is economy. It is the only reasonably sure means of preventing disease that attacks neglected gums, thus ravaging the system, robbing youth, and often causing loss of teeth. This disease is the more serious for only dental care can stem its advance once it is contracted.

See your dentist every six months. Brush your teeth regularly. But don't forget that teeth are only as healthy as the gums. So brush gums vigorously, morning and night, with the dentifrice made for the purpose, Forhan's for the Gums. It helps to keep them healthy.

After you have used Forhan's for a few days you'll notice a vast improvement in the way your gums look and feel. They will be firmer, sounder—thus strong enough to resist disease. Also you'll find that Forhan's cleans teeth and helps to protect them from decay.

STANDARD OIL'S PRESIDENT SILENT IN PROXY BATTLE

Seubert Refuses to Tell
Where He Stands.

Edward G. Seubert, 6925 Constance avenue, president of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, whose stand in the controversy between Col. Robert W. Stewart and John D. Rockefeller Jr. has been a subject of argument, refused to state yesterday precisely what his attitude would be in "the battle of proxies."

letter written to stockholders a few days ago, he declared that "under the loyal and devoted leadership of the president of the company, E. G. Seubert, who has been with the company for more than thirty years... the interests of the company will be fully protected and its business well handled without Col. Stewart."

The only answer to this statement was the fact that Mr. Seubert's name was placed on the committee to which Col. Stewart asked stockholders to mail their proxies. Thus Mr. Seubert was apparently affiliated with both parties, each of whom have asserted that they will obtain control of the company.

Mr. Seubert, when asked whether the placing of his name on Col. Stewart's committee meant that he had allied himself with the latter, remarked: "It was a perfectly normal thing for my name to be on that committee. As an official of the company my name has been on the same list for several years."

Col. Stewart said he had received more proxies from stockholders giving him the power to vote in the battle against Mr. Rockefeller, and announced a confidence that he would be victorious in his struggle to remain at the head of the oil company.

KING ZOG CALLS DOCTORS; SMOKES TOO MANY FAGS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

VIENNA, Jan. 13.—The newly elected king of Albania, Zog, smokes too much, does not take enough exercise, eats too fast and irregularly, according to the diagnosis of two Vienna specialists who now are at the Albanian capital, Tirana, to cure the colorful ruler of stomach trouble.

Prof. Dr. Richard Daurer, a stomach specialist, and Dr. Holzknecht, a radium expert, were called to the Albanian capital for consultation. It was feared the young king was suffering from cancer, but the diagnosis showed his sickness was due to irregular habits, nervousness, and too many cigars. It is believed the strain of the last few years, during which the Albanian ruler was protecting himself from assassins and sturdy mountaineers, who refuse to acknowledge the authority of any one, is also to blame for his bad health.

HINT RECEIVER RING'S LOOT IS 70 MILLIONS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

New York, Jan. 13.—Federal and legal authorities marshaled their forces today for a concerted campaign against the New York "bankruptcy ring," investigation of which already has led to the indictment of two lawyers and a suicide attempt by a relative of one of them. Officials estimate the shortages may run as high as $70,000,000.

Charles Evans Hughes, president of the New York Bar association, has promised the cooperation of that organization.

David Steinhardt, fugitive lawyer and receiver in 127 bankruptcies; Max Pinner, Steinhardt's distant cousin, and Merrill E. Gates Jr., also an attorney, are the three involved.

CRUSHED BETWEEN CARS.
Ray B. Jones, 40 years old, 2504 North Elmhurst avenue, freight car inspector employed by the Bell Line Railway company, died last night at St. Ann's hospital from injuries sustained when he was crushed between two box cars.

SPECIAL JURY TO OPEN NEW FRAUD INQUIRY TODAY

Hughes Police Regime to Be Under Scrutiny.

Several policemen and police officials under the regime of former Commissioner Michael Hughes will be called before the special grand jury today which will reopen the campaign against the alleged fraud and corruption which started last summer by Frank J. Loesch, now first assistant state's attorney. Special attention, it is said, will be given to conditions under the rule of Commissioner Hughes before his resignation.

The plan to call commanding officers in the Hughes regime before the jury was unfolded last night by the 78 year old prosecutor as he prepared for the opening of the investigation, which is expected to veer shortly into the ramifications of the sanitary district pay roll situation.

Will Quiz Officials. Members of different organizations having to do with the suppression of gambling, vice, and other crimes will first be called before the jury to tell what steps were taken to inform the police commanders of the operation of gambling and vice dens in the districts over which they presided.

It is reported that even reports from the prohibition department will be used to show that vicious speakeasies were allowed to operate unmolested in certain police districts during the regime of former Commissioner Hughes.

As soon as the grand jurors are acquainted with the alleged open and notorious manner in which joints were allowed to operate the police commanders will be called in to explain why this was so in view of the fact that they had been personally apprised of the situation by the various reform agencies.

Who Is Responsible? "If you are not responsible, who issued the orders to you to allow these places to operate?" will be the question to confront each of the police commanders.

If the deputy commissioners or captains take the blame, then a malfeasance indictment can be brought. If the blame is passed on to higher-ups, then a trail of graft probably will be opened up for investigation and indictments on more serious charges.

The operation of one alleged syndicate which operated on the south side is to come in for special investigation. It has been reported that this syndicate was made up of a former city official and several other powerful south side politicians.

Eye on Hughes' Rule. That the record of the Hughes administration is to come in for a thorough investigation is seen in the demand on Commissioner William F. Russell to produce copies of all felony reports received by the police department from May 1, 1927, to Aug. 1, 1928. The prosecutor did not give any explanation for his demand for the records.

The sanitary district investigation will be taken up within the next ten days, it was reported. By that time the police inquiry is expected to be well under way.

Cook county Republican central committee and a voluntary exile since the first of a series of election fraud grand juries was impaneled last September, has fled the frigidty of his retreat in Phelps, Wis., and found a belated refuge here at the winter home of Ringling Brothers' circus.

Galpin leased the spacious home of C. B. Boardman on the palm fringed banks of Phillipi creek last Dec. 1 and has since spent his time playing golf, fishing and boating. Mrs. Tamm, a correspondent encountered him today as he and Mrs. Galpin left church, and the following colloquy took place:

Q—Mr. Galpin, do you ever intend to appear before a Cook county special grand jury? A—I am not aware there is any special grand jury in session.

Q—It has been reported that State's Attorney Swanson would like to have you testify. Had you heard that? A—No, I have never been asked to testify. I have not been notified by summons nor even unofficially.

Q—Do you intend to make your home in Florida while Mr. Swanson is in office? A—No, I'll be back in Chicago in April. I've been in Chicago fifty times since Swanson was elected.

Q—Have you been in Chicago since Mr. Swanson took office? A—No. But there's no truth in the assertion that I've refused to appear before the grand jury.

Railway Disaster Puts English Labor on Mettle

[Chicago Tribune From Service.] LONDON, Jan. 13.—J. H. Thomas, labor leader, referring to the Ashchurch railway disaster in addressing a meeting of railway men at Cardiff last night, said, "The railways of this country, and your profession as engineers and firemen, are at this moment under a cloud. I want to say through you to the British public that much as we deplore the fact, there is certainly no cause for alarm. Our railways still remain the best in the world, and the safest."

STOP BAD BREATH

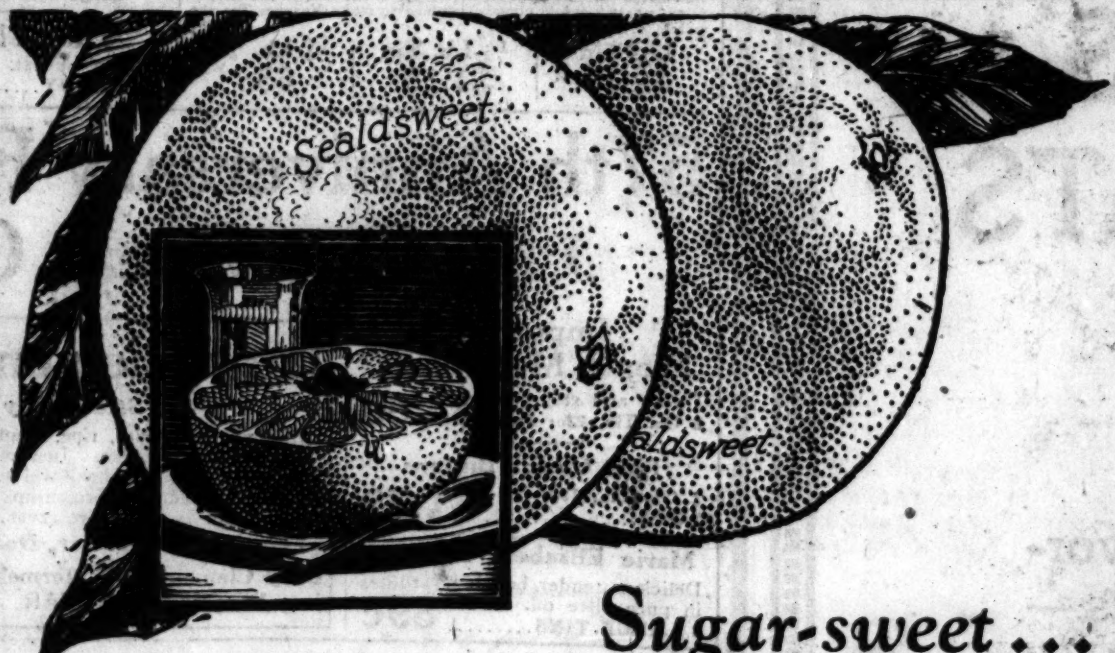

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 50c, 60c. All Druggists.

The Eyes of Youth

YOUNG eyes are usually stronger than old ones. But they soon tire and age prematurely if compelled to work with glaring or misplaced light.

Eyes cannot be replaced but will work better and last longer with light that helps them.

Emeraldite is preferred in the best offices because of its many individual and practical features that defy imitation. It combines a special Daylight Screen that changes ordinary electric light into soft, eye-saving daylight which eliminates glare and improves visibility. Emeraldite offices look better—have more output—daylight on every desk—the best eye insurance. Nothing is so good as the Best.

Genuine Emeraldites are branded for your protection. Look for the name on the Green Glass Shade and the Daylight Screen. Its pledge of lighting service that satisfies.

Nurito Prescription Acts Like Magic, Making Bed-ridden Patients Get Up and Dance.

DRUGGISTS GUARANTEE IT
Nothing has so startled the community as the effect of Nurito, a prescription for rheumatism, neuritis, sciatica and lumbago. It is now to be had at the local drug store and is certainly a boon to humans. Many won't believe such a thing until it is almost instant relief is given. They say it must be a narcotic, but it isn't anything of the sort, and it doesn't prove almost a miracle. It does the trick. Try it as directed. You'll find it will relieve you. You'll find it will make you get up and dance. You'll find it will make you get up and dance. You'll find it will make you get up and dance.

SURVEY OF 7,000 GERMAN FIRMS SHOWS STABILITY

Companies Pay Average of 5.6% Dividend.

(Copyright, 1929, By the New York Times.)
BERLIN, Jan. 13.—A general survey of the business of 7,000 German stock companies for the fiscal year 1927-1928, including nine months of the latter year, shows little change over the previous year, according to data published by the statistical bureau today. The report substantiates the views of Seymour Parker Gilbert, agent general of reparations, that German industry is still fairly prosperous and stable.

The dividends these companies paid average 5.6 per cent, though the total profits amount to 14 per cent on capital invested. The companies under consideration, including every form of undertaking, have a total capital investment of about 13 billion marks ($2,550,000,000) and show 900 million marks ($180,000,000) net profit, with a similar sum written off for depreciation. Dividends paid amount to 741 million marks ($148,250,000). Two thousand of these companies closed the year's business with a loss, which amount is deducted from the total earnings in compiling the tables.

Total debts of the last business year were 11,640,000,000 marks ($2,310,000,000), of which 42 per cent is foreign money. Reserves amount to 14 per cent of the total active capital, which is slightly behind last year's figure. Two branches of industry, namely, furniture manufacture and the construction of settlements to overcome the housing shortage, show losses, considering all the undertakings in this line. All other branches show profits which losses of individual companies did not overcome.

One discouraging feature is the size of short term debts, totaling 8 billion marks (2 billion dollars). The expense and difficulty of constant money seeking is hampering the workings of the companies.

Long term loans at slightly higher rates would be more economical in the long run, industrialists claim, and an effort will be made to transform many present short term obligations to loans extending over a longer period for years.

Taken as a whole, the statistics show Germany has little to fear in the way of a crisis or slump in business, despite the present rapidly increasing unemployment which is always expected in winter seasons.

SWEDEN BUILDS NEW CITIZENS ON SAGAS OF OLD

Compulsory Schools Date to 14th Century.

BY MARTIN MARTELIUS.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
STOCKHOLM, Jan. 13. — Illiteracy among the Swedes is practically unknown. Even the Lapps and Finns, who live north of the arctic circle, can read and write and possess a certain amount of education. The folkskolan—the compulsory public school—has existed in Sweden since the end of the fourteenth century, a record which has no parallel elsewhere.

The reason for this long tradition of popular education is to be found in the fact that Sweden, unlike most of her European neighbors, has never known a period of serfdom. The right of the people to govern themselves was admitted to Sweden earlier than elsewhere, and modern parliamentarianism, for which England generally gets the credit, is in reality derived from the Swedish ting, legislative bodies which have existed from the dawn of Swedish history.

Schooling is compulsory.

In such a land it follows as a matter of course that every child receives an education of considerable extent. Schooling is compulsory for all Swedish children between the ages of seven and eighteen, who are only excused from attendance at the public school if their parents can show that they are receiving an equally good education privately.

The public school curriculum includes the following subjects of instruction: Swedish, comprising reading, writing and the history of Swedish literature; mathematics, history, geography, Christianity, natural history, hygiene, eugenics, "slöyd," which is training in manual work and craftsmanship; gymnastics and sports. In addition the student is able to study other subjects if he desires, such as English, German, or practical courses like bookkeeping.

History as taught in Swedish public schools comprises a general survey of world history and intensive research in Swedish history, with reference to the parallel histories of the other Scandinavian peoples.

Begin With Early Myths.

The history of Sweden begins with the myths and sagas of the pre-historic epoch, but not until after the great migrations lasting from the fourth to the eighth centuries, A. D., do they have any reliable historical accounts. Then the students begin to hear of the Vikings, Scandinavian navigators from Sweden, Denmark and Norway. From 800 to 1050 the movements of the Vikings were particularly active. In America one hears of the Danes, who overran England, and the Norsemen, who discovered Iceland, Greenland, and, if the story of Leif Ericson be accepted, America as well, 500 years before Columbus.

The Swedes traveled eastward and southward, particularly to Russia, which was known to them as Gårdarrike. The Swedish Vikings were Russia's earliest chiefs. The very name of the country is derived from the Swedish word rus, still preserved in the name Roslagen, applied to the Baltic coast north of Stockholm. It entered Russia with Rurik, the ruler, as the name signifies, who, landing on the shores of Rysland, the land of the Rus, with people from Roslagen, founded the Russian state. His is the first name mentioned in Edgar Saltus' Imperial Oryx, a history of the Russian emperors, though Rurik was far from swaying as vast an empire as the later ones and was little more than the strong chief of a group of turbulent tribesmen.

Penetrated to Black Sea.

The Swedish Vikings penetrated in their rakish craft by the rivers of Russia far to the south, reaching the Black sea and Miklagard—Constantinople.

It is the tales of these adventurous Vikings that are first presented to the young boy and girl in Sweden as representative of the glorious founders of their race. The old sagas and legends of Fritiof and Ingeborg are read in the original, in translations and in paraphrases.

In medieval times the history of Sweden is largely religious, and its heroes are centered about the introduction into the north of Catholic Christianity.

The decline of Catholic power in Sweden was marked by attempts on the part of Danish Kings to subjugate Sweden and combine it with Norway in a single Catholic Scandinavian state. Many of the most brilliant names in Swedish history belong to those centuries when constant struggles were going on to drive Danish governors from Sweden and assure the liberty of the country. One of the heroes who has most tightly gripped the Swedish heart is the mighty Dalecarlian leader Engelbrekt, who led the first revolt against the Danes and the Catholic rule. After him came aristocratic chiefs, Sten Sture the elder and Sten Sture the younger, with the latter's wife, Kristina Gyllenstjerna, who defended Stockholm through a number of historic battles.

The emphasis in Swedish history text books is laid on two points: first, that Sweden played an important part as a defender of Protestantism in Europe; and secondly, that she introduced to northern Europe and the other Baltic states particularly the culture of the occident. The Baltic region owes to Sweden their high schools, their laws, and their general gravitation towards occidental Europe instead of towards Russia.

To the teaching of the national history and the observances of certain holidays the Swedes leave the instilling of patriotism. There is no systematic teaching of patriotic ideals. It is believed that these will naturally be inspired by a study of the country's history and a love for it as a native land. The teaching of patriotism directly is fought shy of for fear it may degenerate into political propaganda.

BURNS FATAL TO WOMAN.

Mrs. Amanda Balke, 44 years old, died yesterday in the Auburn Park hospital of burns she received in her home, 18 West 72d street, Saturday when her clothes caught fire while she was burning paper in the coal stove.

FAILS TO WIN HIS WIFE BACK; ENDS LIFE BY POISON

After an unsuccessful attempt to win his estranged wife, Lillian, Morris Rudd, 26 years old, a commission merchant, 2224 1/2 West 35th street, committed suicide by drinking poison. Mrs. Rudd left her home Saturday, taking Anita, their six months old daughter, to her mother's home at 1810 South Spaulding avenue. Rudd appeared at the home yesterday and demanded an interview with his wife. He pleaded for a reconciliation. When his wife refused to return to him he shouted, "I'll kill myself." With these words he drew the poison from his pocket, drank it, and rushed into the street, hatless and coatless. In front of the home of Mrs. Frank Hirsch, at 1125 South Spaulding avenue, he fell. Mrs. Hirsch called the police who found Rudd dead.

The vapor from VAPEX actually kills cold germs... discovered in laboratories during the war while the influenza epidemic was at its height.

While influenza raged all around them, a few government workers remained in perfect health. What caused this immunity? Was it due to the materials with which they were working in the laboratories of Thos. Kerfoot & Co., Ltd.?

Tests were instituted and the chemicals responsible were soon isolated. It was proved that a vapor was given off by these materials that actually killed the germs of common colds. The discovery was an important one. A new product, Vapex, was offered for sale.

Vapex came into immediate use throughout England, and more recently, has won great popularity in America. Vapex will keep you free from colds. It will stop a cold at the start. The odor is pleasant and refreshing. Merely put a drop on your handkerchief. Breathe the vapor. Congestion breaks up and relief is immediate. Use Vapex frequently, whenever and wherever you wish.

Buy a dollar bottle of Vapex, containing fifty treatments, from your druggist. It is guaranteed and distributed in the United States by E. Fongers & Co., Inc., New York City.

THE popularity of Checker as Chicago's courtesy and comfort taxicab service is not confined to Gold Coast debutantes and their mothers.

Women of all walks of life, resident in all sections of the city, are saying the same fine things about Checker that may be overheard at the smart gatherings of the elite.

The civility and consideration which Checker drivers extend to Chicago's womanhood go appropriately with the roomy, easy-riding, smartly appointed Packards, Pierce-Arrows, Cadillacs and other famous comfort cars that comprise the Checker fleet of 1700 magnificent limousines.

The fact that you so often see Checkers drawn up at the door of the Palmer home and other distinguished Chicago homes is a credit to the reputations the Checker driver-stockholders have built up for themselves with discriminating people who feel that a taxicab driver should know the city and be able to handle his assignment competently without annoying question-asking en route.

Checker drivers have a substantial ownership interest not only in their own cabs but in every other Checker cab. They have formed a two million dollar corporation and taken out a $4,000,000 liability insurance policy for their own and your protection. A responsible Cook County authority has given Checker the best rating of any taxicab company in the world in freedom from accidents.

These happy driver-stockholders are the real Checker family. And they ask you to let the service they are giving you be your measure of the Chicago taxicabs that deserve your patronage and support.

Prohibition

(Chicago Tribune)
Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—The ninth annual prohibition convention, next Wednesday, in the midwest, will be the largest yet held in the country, in addition to the many local, state and national conventions in the midwest. Tomorrow, it is expected, will be the most important day of the convention, when the delegates will vote on the proposed amendment to the constitution, which would prohibit the manufacture, sale and transportation of intoxicating liquors. The resolution is expected to pass by a large majority.

During the period 1920, when both the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act were in effect, federal agents seized 453,474 gallons of liquor; 288,584 gallons were sent to jail or prison; 28,813 years were served; 38,087 automobiles were confiscated and a total of $1,000,000 in fines has been collected.

Yet, in their most recent statements, federal agents have admitted that the prohibition amendment has not been effective. They pointed out that the Atlantic coast states have been the principal beneficiaries of the amendment, and that the prohibition amendment has not been effective.

In the same statements, federal agents conceded that they have not been able to completely suppress the sale of liquor, and that the prohibition amendment has not been effective. They pointed out that the Atlantic coast states have been the principal beneficiaries of the amendment, and that the prohibition amendment has not been effective.

These remarks were made by James M. Dore, prohibition commissioner, who is in charge of the enforcement of the prohibition amendment. He pointed out that the prohibition amendment has not been effective, and that the Atlantic coast states have been the principal beneficiaries of the amendment.

READY TO TURN SEARCHLIGHT ON DRY 'BLESSINGS'

U. S. Skeptical on Ninth Prohibition Birthday.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The ninth anniversary of prohibition, next Wednesday, will find congress in the midst of plans to inventory results of the "noble experiment" which, to date, has cost the country, in addition to a frightful toll of human lives, billions in lost revenue and at least 300 million dollars directly appropriated for enforcement. Tomorrow, it is expected, the senate's judiciary committee will recommend passage of a joint resolution authorizing the creation of a presidential commission to appraise the fruits of the tremendous outlay and advise congress and the country whether, in its judgment, the law should be tightened or liberalized.

The resolution is designed to fulfill President Hoover's prelection pledge of an impartial survey of the whole problem. The proposed commission would have unlimited power to study not only the effects and abuses of Volsteadism but the wisdom of the law itself. It would be free to recommend the repeal of the eighteenth amendment if its findings justified such suggestion.

What Years Have Wrought. During the period since Jan. 16, 1920, when both the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act became effective, federal agents alone have arrested 453,474 alleged violators of the liquor laws; 268,554 persons have been sent to jail or prison for a total of 2,113 years; more than 200 citizens have been slain by hair trigger dry agents; 33,087 automobiles have been confiscated and a total of $44,574,832 in fines has been levied by federal courts.

Yet in their most recent official statements, federal enforcement chiefs virtually admitted that all of their efforts have merely scratched the surface. They pointed to suppression of the Atlantic coast rum run, as the principal achievement of the nine years' attempt to make Volsteadism effective.

In the same statements these officials conceded they have failed completely, in spite of concentrated activity all along the border, to stem the flood of Canadian liquor into the United States. According to dry bureau records, moonshining and home brewing have increased by leaps and bounds all over the country.

Doran Climaxes Admissions. These remarkable admissions were climaxed when Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran told the house appropriations committee a few weeks ago that prohibition never will be really effective until congress is willing to spend upward of 300 millions of dollars a year and blanket the country with dry spies and federal courts. Ardent dries in both houses of congress have been heard within the last month to denounce the present enforcement methods and results as a farce. Even the Anti-Saloon league is alarmed, and its leaders, who heretofore have marked each passing prohibition anniversary with extravagant praise of supposed progress, are now warning their adherents to face the real facts.

Today, at a dry rally in a local church, P. Scott McBride, the league's general superintendent, pleaded for "militancy" among prohibitionists. He endorsed the proposal of Senator Harris (Dem., Ga.), now pending in the senate, to appropriate an additional $25,000,000 for a showdown dry law enforcement drive during the remaining months of the fiscal year.

Mr. McBride admitted that there are large sections of the country where prohibition, nine years after its adoption, is more or less unknown and, he declared, "it is high time these wet sections were learning that Uncle Sam means business as to the enforcement of prohibition."

"Prohibition at its worst and in its worst places, including Chicago and Washington, D. C., is better than the old liquor traffic at its best and in the saloon's best places."
"People Are for Prohibition."
"The people are for prohibition. Greater educational work is necessary, emphasizing our obligation to constitutional government."
Among the most significant of the recent statements made by high prohibition officials is the admission of Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of dry law enforcement, that after nine years' effort "the problems of liquor smuggling across the Canadian border continue to be unsolved."
Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, in his review of the nine years of prohibition, today declared: "An accurate inventory of the blessings which it has showered upon us indicates that we have outdone Capt. Kidd, because we now have not only the smugglers and pirates of the days of golden doubloons but we also boast a complete equipment of bootleggers, hijackers, racketeers, gunmen, and even the lonely but useful kibitzers."

"We are also blessed," continued Mr. Curran, "with speakasies, hooch on the hip, bubbling vats and steaming stills in the kitchens of the land, a bumper crop of drink dries, and an interesting transformation of the churches religion of yesterday into the town halls of today and I nearly forgot the nightly movie of father and mother sitting up beside the family lamp and wondering whether daughter will get home from the 'hip-mobile' party in time for breakfast."

TRACTION: A QUESTION OF PROCEDURE.

A. W. Harris as chairman of the bondholders' protective committee of the north and west side street car lines persists in the opinion that the first step toward a settlement of the traction problem must be permissive legislation from Springfield. The aldermen who have been trying to negotiate a settlement are angry. Blood pressures are rising all around the table and the prospect of a settlement has been obscured, if not actually endangered.

The question whether indignation on one side or the other is justified may be dismissed for the present as irrelevant to the main issue, which is the securing of a satisfactory settlement. It is unfortunate that all this heat is being generated by a mere question of procedure, in which no fundamental principle of the settlement itself is involved; and it is difficult to understand how so much pride of opinion could be based on such a trivial difference.

The disagreement comes down to this: Mr. Harris says that, as any settlement must be based upon permissive legislation, it is a waste of time to attempt to draw a franchise before legislation is obtained and the negotiators know what they are going to be permitted to do. The aldermen, supported by Mr. Busby of the south side surface lines, contend that until the terms of the franchise have been agreed upon, no one can know what permissive laws to ask for.

If men were strictly logical beings Mr. Harris' contention might have greater weight. He does not seem to realize that, as a practical matter, the legislature will not pass permissive laws if it does not know pretty accurately what those laws are intended to accomplish. Conscientious members will fear to vote in the dark and venal members, if any, are no less interested in knowing what it is they are being asked to support.

It is idle to pretend that there are certain abstract principles of right and wrong which can be expressed in permissive legislation on traction. Take the matter of indeterminate franchises. They are prohibited now by state law. Mr. Harris believes an indeterminate franchise is essential to a settlement. The fact is that there are no good indeterminate franchises and there can be no bad ones. The merits of the idea cannot be argued in a vacuum. The principle is good when the franchise which is based on it is good and bad when the franchise is bad.

The members of the legislature know that they will be held responsible not for an abstract principle but for a particular franchise. They know that it will be political suicide for many of them to vote for a permissive law if later it is used to deny good service to the public. It is conceivable that the legislature may enact laws permitting indeterminate franchises if the members know how the laws will be applied; otherwise the whole procedure will be so clouded with suspicion and distrust that nothing will be accomplished. That is what has happened at recent sessions of the legislature and what may be expected to happen again under similar circumstances.

What has been said about indeterminate franchises is equally true of laws permitting consolidation. Some consolidations might prove disastrous to the public interest and perhaps others might prove beneficial. In any event, consolidation is desired by the companies in their own interest and not by the city. If the companies want it, they have some chance of getting it by agreeing among themselves in advance upon the terms of exchange of securities and the raising of new capital for extensions and betterments. If this financial setup is presented to the legislature the members will know what they are voting for.

It is difficult to see what the companies, the security holders, or the city have to lose by reaching an agreement in advance of permissive legislation. The more violent the opposition to this procedure, the greater will be the suspicion in the public mind and in the legislature that the companies are seeking to put something over by inserting riders in the permissive laws. This inference may be wholly unjustified, but it is certain to be drawn.

ONE CHINA.

China's new nationalism comes opportunely. With Japan detached from Britain and weaker diplomatically than in many years, with Britain occupied in India and in Europe, with Russia in no mood for making foreign interference, China's nationalism can bloom hardly in a late spring and no frost are there to nip it. That, perhaps, is why it is now blooming.

In Japan peace policies ebb and flow, and the Japan that paid for men and arms for Chang Tso-lin, war lord of Manchuria, to break the struggling Chinese nation is now more pacific. With Chang thrown out of Peking by the southern armies, with China forming rapidly about Nanking as a new and independent nation, Japan has less to go on for military intervention. Small aviations remain, but Japan's military policy towards China has had a severe proving in recent years that may result in China's finding freedom. One way remains to throw old China back into civil war and political division. If Japan can pick a war with the new nation and defeat its government, China may revert again. In spite of their worth $400,000,000 annually between China and Japan, the bickering and irritations that Japan still imposes on the Chinese government suggest that war may be the aim of at least some of her advisers. The prestige of the new government might not survive defeat.

A divided China is Japan's advantage. A united China is America's advantage. Great stakes are there, and a strong China will mean development on the Pacific, east and west, beside which the Atlantic coastal regions may in time seem of small significance. Americans will wish the new China well.

WHERE THE HEART LIES.

A recent tabulation of stockholders in the Pennsylvania railroad suggests that there has been some increase in western and mid-western ownership. The figures are for Dec. 1, 1928. They show that residents of Pennsylvania, New York, and New England together own more than 75 per cent of the stock. A little more than 3 per cent is owned abroad. That leaves 16.66 per cent owned in the rest of the United States. The proportion is small, but it is nearly 2 per cent larger than on Dec. 1 a year ago.

We do not know that it is the only way, but certainly one way to bring about needed improvements in railway accommodations in the middle west is to increase the number of stockholders in this region. Apparently the Pennsylvania management is of the opinion that the railroad also will benefit from wider customer ownership, for it is one of the few railroads which have listed their securities on the Chicago stock exchange.

Forty-six per cent of the Pennsylvania's stock is held in Pennsylvania and nearly 33 per cent in New York. It may be only a coincidence that the Pennsylvania's electrification plans are confined to the eastern terminals, but it probably isn't.

MAKE YOUR OWN ARCHIPELAGO.

Anchored islands between Cape Henry and the Spanish coast will be stepping stones for giant hops between America and Europe, and New York to Paris in less than fifty hours will be a commonplace of travel. This is the newest fantasy of steel and power in this fantastic age. They will be iron islands raised on floating drums above the sea and along the foggy path from Virginia and Lisbon they will be tethered. One is in building, at a cost of $1,500,000, and, if the first island works, others will be made. These platforms on the sea, that Admiral Columbus sailed so dangerously only five hundred years ago will have hotels upon them. The take-off for the planes will be twelve hundred feet in length.

But the earth has various misplaced islands that should be moved to regions of more vantage, and the moving would save building new ones. Ireland might be towed westward and anchored off the light at Boston. England might be stationed between Bermuda and the Carolina coast. Haiti should be moved nearer to Africa. Cuba would look well east of Bermuda. Manhattan might be moored to Palestine. And so they go; man will rearrange the furniture of the earth according to his need.

AMERICANS AND THEIR NAVY.

The Navy League of the United States finds by examining press clips received from the country over that the ratio for the cruiser bill is 7.5 to 1. Newspapers with a circulation of 5,179,000 support the navy bill and it is opposed by newspapers with a circulation of 665,000. The pacifist lobby of clerics, radicals, internationalists and anti-nationalists is concentrated in Washington. Its form letter writers respond to the order of "write your congressman." The great mass of the people do not so agitate themselves. They take it for granted that congress will keep the navy in condition.

Americans want the navy maintained. They want ships built as they are needed. They wouldn't support a naval program which they thought was designed to frighten other nations and force them to attempt retaliation and drive them into hostile combinations to defend themselves. It is self-evident that Americans are both peaceable and prudent, and that is all they require of their government in matters of national defense.

[Lapses Replier in the Tale Replier.]

It is the city has nothing to give but dirt, disorder, and inhuman racket, then let its sons fly to the suburbs and mow their great plots in content. If it has no longer a vehement communal life, if it is not as it once was, the center of pleasure and of purpose, if it is a thoroughfare, and nothing else, then let them pass through it and escape. One thing is sure. No rural community, no suburban community, can ever possess the distinctive qualities that give a city its life and its value to the world. The common interests, the keen and anxious intercourse with its exchange of disputable convictions, the cherished friendships and hostilities—these things shaped townsmen into compact, intimate society which left its impress upon each successive generation. The home gives character to the city; the man gives character to the home. If, when his day's work is over, he goes speeding off to a suburb, he breaks the link which binds him to his kind. . . .

It is not because the city is big, but because it draws to its heart all things that are gay and keen, that life in its streets is exhilarating. It is a sort of birds (even the friendly little sparrows are being killed off by the drip of oil from its gutters); but that is a matter of more concern to the city's cats than to the city's inhabitants. It is needlessly noisy; but the suburb is not without its sufferings on this score. Motors shriek defiance in the leafy lanes, dogs bark their refrain through the night, the phonographs of neighbors growl and twang; and the village blended sounds of the radio, like lost equine whinnying their perdition, float from piazza to piazza.

There are remediable evils; but so are most of the city's evils, which are not remedied because Americans are born temporizers, who dislike nothing so much as abating a public nuisance. They will spend time and money on programs to outlaw war, because that is a purely speculative process; but they will not stir themselves to outlaw excessive noise or dangerous speeding, because such measures mean actual compromises. "The city," says one clear-eyed and very courageous American, "is the flower of civilization. It gives to the means to make their lives expressive. It offers a field of battle, and it could be made a livable place if its sons would stay and fight for it instead of running away."

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

BALLADE IN PRAISE OF THREE.

Comrades, where can we find today
 Hierarchy of Fir-cone fame!
 When came there, in rogue's array—
 Scholar-thief, Villon by name—
 Water changed to wine: the same
 Miracle as the Cane prank.
 François, our spirits go halt and lame;
 Life has grown dull since you sang—and drank.

Comrades, where can we find today
 To a Bahine farm and the silvan game!
 Draining flagons, as he lay
 Crowned with wreaths and joy's acclaim,
 Horace felt the lyric flame.
 Flaccus, we of lesser rank;
 Have a stolid age to blame;
 Life has grown dull since you sang—and drank.

Comrades, where in the desert gray
 Is the jug of wine for our knowledge tame!
 Lost in the philosophy fray,
 Omar drew forth his mortal frame
 In the lethal food and laughed as he sank.
 Khayyam, stale is our truth and aim;
 Life has grown dull since you sang—and drank.

Primo, we've made it sin and shame
 Vintage to taste, vintners to thank.
 Brothers, pardon the song we main:
 Life has grown dull since you sang—and drank.

VITA MUNDI.

And What's Hexing You? Oh,
 You Can Think Up a Lot of 'Em.

Talk about those people down in Pennsylvania believing in witchcraft. Why, there's some people in these United States that believe the Scotch whisky they put nowadays was made in Scotland. And that Mr. Kellogg's Peace Pact will prevent war. And that Chicago will have a subway. And that Congress will pass a farm relief bill that will please all the farmers.

He'll Be Quite Positive.

R. H. L.: Election to the leadership of the rum-runners is now quite simple. Whichever one of the two remaining candidates is shot first will know that he is not it.

Id Is a Boor Modh Addhyow!

All this talk about having thirteen months in a year is all tommyrot. We decided that yesterday when our left ear froze. What we need in this country is a year that has only eleven months. But there are now twelve months in a year, you can see for yourself that one month must be dropped. Now, class, all together, what month shall we drop? All those in favor will please sneeze.

Ah, We Owe Much to Education.

R. H. L.: Today the mail box coughed up a large pink envelope. It was from the alumni secretary, requesting enough addresses and references for addresses to insure my being within mailing distance forever. But what remains somewhat vividly in my mind is the opening sentence of the form letter: "As the years slip by the university wants to keep in touch with you." Now, that's what I call the truth in advertising.

SOMEONE OSKOOKS.

SOS!—SOS!—SOS!—SOS!

All right. We've said all we intend to. But we've still got a heart. We're going to get a lot of kind-hearted people and buy up five hundred pairs of good, warm, old-fashioned home-knit woolen socks and stand on the corner of Madison and the Boul Mich today and give 'em away to the poor, shivering flappers who have to wear mosquito netting silk stockings.

Uncle Zeb Plays Checkers with th' Stranger from Turkey Creek.

R. H. L.: That gentleman Mr. Hoover, an Cal sorta calls to mind the checker game Uncle Zeb Haskins had with the stranger from Turkey Creek. Twas in the store at Theodosia one evening an Uncle Zeb couldn't get a game outta none o the boys so finally he axed this checker game. Turkey Creek gets Uncle Zeb tied up and takes him ten minutes to figure his out but the next one it was worse. Uncle Zeb he sets an he figs an sweats an he figs for fifteen minutes after he moves. Turkey Creek ponders his move for another five minutes an then he ties Uncle Zeb up sumph awful. Uncle Zeb he looks an he figs an scratches his head an he wiggles his ears for all a twenty five minutes till finally the stranger he's up an says "Well Minnie, this yore move," like as he'd just heard for the first time they flat an brings it down hard right smack in the middle o the checker board an he gets up offa the nail keg he shouted "I'll be testically an eternally blanketed if I'll play checkers with a dogged chatterbox like you!"

CHICAGO is promised two troops of Black Horse cavalry. Oh, what's the use, the bandits will steal the black off the horses.

A MAN IN LONDON has been arrested, charged with attempting to hold up a crowd entering a night club. His defense will undoubtedly be that it would have been useless to hold them up after they left the night club.

THE NEW TRIBUNE under the Cascade was declared by the Trib yesterday to be the biggest bore in America. Aw, shucks, we could name five right offhand who've got the Cascade tunnel beat it.

IN THE GOOD old summer time, in the good old summer time. When walking down a shady lane, with that girl of mine. You hold her hand and she holds yours. And that's a very good sign. She'll be your tootsie wootsie in the good old sum— (BANG!) The shooting was justifiable. The prisoner is hereby found not guilty.

WELL, SIR, we wrote a last line yesterday and sent it down to the composing room, but dinged if it didn't freeze solid. But Hank's going to thaw it out today and we'll use it tomorrow.

BOWLEGS NORMAL IN INFANCY.

VERY normal infant is bow-legged, said Dr. Sweet and his associates. He might be added, "and fatfooted." A baby's being bowlegged is normal and calls for no treatment. The mother or the physician who insists that the baby's legs undertake something that is useless; the legs straighten themselves if they are given a chance. Nor does the fatfoot call for any treatment. Never at any subsequent time will the foot be as pliable as it is in babyhood. When the baby is walking all day long and an arch is needed, one will appear. Dr. Sweet and associates are in favor of having the baby go barefoot for a while each day. When shoes are worn they should be loose and light and should permit the freest possible use of the muscles of the feet and legs.

A baby is born doubled up like an old man. By the time he is about one year old he has pretty well unfolded. When a baby first begins to walk with his feet far apart, his toes turned out, and his body bent forward. His feet and legs are so arranged because he needs a wide base. He bends forward because of a tendency to fall backward. It is noticed that in his efforts to walk he is prone to sit down suddenly. The forward lean is to overcome this tendency. The line of gravity is naturally a little far back and the baby leans forward to overcome this. His front muscles are not quite equal to the task of preventing him from sitting down. To assist him in getting rid of excessive body curves, the baby should have flat feet. It must not get in the region of the hips, and no pillow is to be used. To prevent sagging a board should be placed between the mattress and the springs, and the mattress must be renovated often enough to prevent lumps and hollows.

Soon after walking is started the legs change from the bowlegged to the knock-knee type of architecture. This style is at its maximum at 3 years of age. By about 5 years of age the knock-knee phase has passed into the straight-leg phase. This remains the type except in adolescent girls, in which group the legs again tend toward the knock-knee type. The 3 year knock-knee phase is not to be worried about. It is a part of the schedule and calls for no treatment. If the child is given opportunity to develop his muscles, if his clothing permits his body to be free, if his shoes are right and his bed is flat, the chances are that his body will pass through its schedule to the adult normal.

TOBACCO AND THE HEART.

G. C. writes: "I am 22 years old. I use a great amount of tobacco and I work hard on the outside. My heart beats hard and fast. I think it is due to tobacco."

It is probably tobacco, as you think. Your problem is: Shall I quit tobacco and enjoy health, or enjoy tobacco and put up with the heart disturbance for what is left of my life?

STAGE FRIGHT.

Mrs. O. writes: Stage fright is always met with amusement, if not with scorn. However, no matter how I have fought to overcome it, I have not succeeded. I am beginning to think it is due to physical causes (heart or nerves). What can I take to quiet the nerves?

REPLY.

The cure for your case consists in training. There is no doubt that medicine that helps every nerve except it does so by suggestion. The training cure has been known to cure, but it is not easy nor a matter of a day.

BABY NEEDS MIXED DIET.

Mrs. G. writes: We have a baby 8 months old who is bottle fed. We use malted milk.

Will you please tell me why the curds in her stool are hard if not given a laxative? We have to give her some kind of a laxative every day. She weighs 14½ pounds.

REPLY.

As you get her on a mixed diet she will be troubled less. She should be taking fruit and vegetables. If you have not done so, begin with this cereals and gradually add breads, soups and vegetables.

RUGS LOST IN STORAGE.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(Legal Friend of the People.)—The husband of a friend of mine died recently. It was found after his death that he had given away several mortgages.

1. Has the wife no legal claim to a mortgage?

2. Can a husband legally give away a mortgage without his wife's signature?

3. Do the laws concerning this differ in different states?

M. B.

1. She could not take back the title unless she could show that he lacked mental capacity or was subjected to undue influence.

2. Yes.

3. To answer your question it would be necessary for us to investigate the statutes of each of the states in the Union, involving in many cases the examination of several volumes. It seems probable that the greater part of this labor would be of no service to you. Hence, we suggest that you write good enough to warrant the employment of an attorney if the amount involved is substantial.

"SPRING-BUSTER ROAD."

Chicago, Jan. 10.—(Friend of the People.)—I have been under the impression that the Sherman act prohibited trusts. I am a class the street as "spring-buster road" and when parking my car use the alley. In bad weather it is worse than a country road for mud.

R. H. L.

The pavement in North California avenue in the 4400 block is old worn out macadam, beyond repair. The only remedy for present conditions is to have the street resurfaced with a new material.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 14, 1864.

PHILADELPHIA.—The Inquirer has a sensational disclosure, which it says is a heavy cavalry fight occurred near Strawberry Plains on Jan. 10, in which the rebels were repulsed with serious loss. Gen. Long Bridge, where he holds a splendid position with river and mountain front, has been heavily reinforced from the rear. The annual dinner of the army of Lee and Johnston, John holds a bold front at Tunnel Hill and Dalton, Ga.

WASHINGTON.—The senate confirmed the nomination of John Hay of Illinois to be assistant adjutant general of volunteers with rank of major.

NEW YORK.—The Democratic national committee voted to hold the national convention for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice President at Chicago on July 4 next.

CHICAGO.—This city probably was selected by the Democrats as the place for its national convention because, as the convention seeks a representation from all the states, the attendance of delegates from Dixie is already secured at Camp Douglas. When the convention is in session it will be a question on which side the high wooden fence they will be the most hated for liberty and zeal for slavery. Doubtless it would be more appropriate to club the moral forces and hold the convention inside the fence.

CHICAGO.—The Audubon club elects as President, Daniel D. Thompson; vice president, James Steel; secretary, F. S. Gibbs; treasurer, George F. Abbey; directors, O. H. Walker, J. F. Bronson, J. H. Ross, S. A. Kent and R. R. Clark.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

WASHINGTON.—Representative Nelson Dingley of Maine died after a long struggle with pneumonia at the age of 64. Congress will adjourn tomorrow as a mark of respect to its late chairman of the ways and means committee. He had been in congress since 1881 and was one of the most popular members of the house. He was identified with practically every measure of importance in congress during the time he was a representative.

MANTILA.—The situation here is undoubtedly critical, but Maj. Gen. Otis has it well in hand. The rebels are concentrated on the outskirts of the town, and their leaders have given

APOLGNETIC GERMANS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 8.—I certainly agreed with you every time when you were rapping those apologetic Americans, but don't forget that quite a few foreign citizens are blessed with this type of citizen, too, and you should not take them too seriously. Herr von Gorchak is one of them.

As to the Germans paying over one billion a year for alcohol, probably some preachers or bone driers may fall for this. Every one with the slightest conception of economics knows that this sum merely represents a circulating amount, since the alcohol is produced and consumed within the country and therefore hasn't anything to do with Germany's ability to pay or with the question how much to pay. On the other hand, the payments for reparations are a drain of money into foreign channels which has an entirely different effect on Germany's economic conditions, even if 10 billions a year would be spent for the good old home brew.

Of course, Herr von Gorchak knows that, too, but unfortunately it would not work so well in his editorial. F. Voer.

BACKS HOTELS IN PHOENIX WAB.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—I am glad some one has come to the front to fight the Telephone company. I certainly support all the hotels on their stand. I think the commerce commission had better step in and do something with this company.

I moved into a building where there was one of the new style phones, for which they charge me 25 cents a month extra. I cannot understand why the commission does not put a stop to this.

Everybody else must change styles and take his loss from the abominable furniture dealer and hatter and all other branches of business. The telephone company has not changed its style of phone in twenty-five years.

MRS. CHAS. WHITE.

FINDS MR. DRAKE A CHAMPION.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—I never felt better than when I heard that Mr. Drake threw the telephone booths out of his hotel. I hope the department stores do that next, and about the drug stores.

I am a drug clerk, but sometimes I imagine I am working for the telephone company. I get up three times to wait on a drug customer to every one regular customer.

Many times we are busy in the prescription department and hear some one rapping on the counter for a slug. And that isn't all. There's returning of slugs, fake slugs, changing $10 bills for slugs, and in many instances calling the number for the customer.

Had I the power I would be free to throw ours out, and on top of that the postage stamps.

BERLINER PFANNKUCHEN NOT PANCAKES.

Delavan, Wis., Jan. 5.—Permit me to call attention to what appears to be an error in the Tribune of the 2nd inst. in New Year's eve celebration at Berlin.

She said that 8,000,000 pancakes were baked in the bakeries of Berlin to satisfy the epicurean demands of the people of Berlin on New Year's day. What Miss Schultz evidently intended to say was that 8,000,000 Berliner pfannkuchen or Bismarcks (raised doughnuts with marmalade filling) were baked for the consumption of Greater Berlin on New Year's day. Berliner pfannkuchen are as much a part of the Berlin and German New Year's breakfast menu as pumpkin pie is a part of our American.

DICTATOR PUTS CURB ON PRESS IN JUGO-SLAVIA

Foreign Papers Barred for Criticism.

BY LARRY RUE.

(Copyright 1929 by The Chicago Tribune.)

BELOGRADE, Jan. 13.—The new dictatorship has begun imposing severe strictures on the press. The government today closed the mails to the Hungarian Pester Lloyd and the Berliner Tageblatt, for criticizing the new regime.

Local newspapers are confining their reports to government communiques, interviews with cabinet ministers, and favorable comment. Fearing to evoke the displeasure of King Alexander and his advisers, who announced that the dictatorship brooks no opposition either from the press, politicians or religious organizations.

Fear of Criticism.
So far, however, there have been but few people willing to criticize, all saying the government program is excellent. Many, though, doubt the capability of the new cabinet to carry out King Alexander's ideas, and where a regret is whispered it concerns the fact that the king has not confined himself to experts, but has introduced politicians such as the former premier during the rump parliament, M. Korosec, M. Marinkovich, and M. Aloupovich, former president of the Democratic party. All resigned from their parties.

Gen. Peter Zivkovic, the premier, today received the foreign press representatives. After a military reception he said, "Gentlemen, I have not the time to give interviews."

However, he made a statement, reaffirming the intention of the new regime to establish order, equality and the economic prosperity of the country, after which a constitution and parliamentary democracy will be restored.

Governors Told to Cut Pay Rolls.
Dr. Stanko Surluga, the minister of finance, said that although he is a good Croat he is unable to discuss the future status of Croatia. He said he was called in by the government as a financial expert, and he does not intend to interest himself in political questions. The governor of all provinces today were requested to reduce the employment to 10 per cent.

"COOKIE" BLAST AT RESTAURANT HURTS EMPLOYEE

Last night Steve Zedandich, owner of a restaurant at 1032 West Madison street, and his dishwasher, Alex Shaerson, 35 years old, were cleaning up the place, which the former had leased a week ago. They were in the front of the cafe when Zedandich picked up a glass jar containing what appeared to be stale cookies. He ordered Shaerson to throw it out. The latter walked to the kitchen. A short time later Zedandich heard a terrific explosion and ran to the kitchen, where he found Shaerson lying on the floor. He was taken to the county hospital, where it was found his left eye was destroyed and his right hand so mangled that amputation will be necessary. Zedandich was unable to tell police what the contents of the jar were. Shaerson said it exploded when he tossed it into a garbage can.

FORMER ILLINOIS STUDENT LATEST FILIPINO ENVOY

Osias, Foremost Cultured
Native, Coming to U. S.

BY VINCENTE ALBANO PACIS
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 13.—The office of Philippine resident commissioner in Washington is expected to assume a more important status in government circles with the arrival early in the spring of the new commissioner, Camilo Osias. "Commissioner Osias succeeds Isidro Galdon, who resigned the post to return and take up the Philippine fight for independence."

Señor Osias is one of the foremost leaders of the English speaking Filipinos, a self-made man, and an example of the possibilities for success under the present system of public education in the Philippines. He is a graduate of the Illinois Teachers' college at Macomb and of Columbia university of New York.

Poor Men's Refuge.
Heretofore the resident commissioner's office has been considered either as a choice reward for political favorites, or as a place for exiling ambitious politicians whose presence in Manila the bosses considered politically dangerous. This brought about the appointment of natives who had been obviously unfit for the office.

About twenty years ago Señor Osias was an unknown school teacher. It is said that the starvation wages forced him to train cocks for the pit. On Sundays, so the story goes, he would be seen going to the cockpit, his own prize rooster in the crook of his arm.

Sent to U. S. Schools.
Later Señor Osias was sent to the United States as a government scholar and on his return he successfully became the first Filipino superintendent of schools, first assistant director of education, first Filipino president of a fully organized university, and first English speaking Filipino to be elected to the Philippine senate. When an undergraduate in the Illinois Teachers' college he won the first prize in an interstate oratorical contest and achieved quite a reputation as a speaker.

CHICAGO SUFFERS IN 9 BELOW COLD; LETUP DUE TODAY

Three Dead; Hundreds Given Shelter.

ty hospital suffered frozen hands. They are James McGuire, 47 years old, 4728 Ferdinand street; Tony Kuchinski, 32 years old, 2829 Haines court, and Michael Whalen, 47 years old, 155 West Grand avenue.

Two firemen suffered serious injuries and scores of tenants were driven to the streets in several of the 175 fires reported. Most of these blazes, caused by overzealous stoking of furnaces, were quickly extinguished with little damage.

Firemen Hurt in Argo Blaze.
But at Argo, where Chicago fire companies were summoned to assist the local department, thirty tenants fled in their night clothing when flames swept through a two story brick building at 6300 Archer avenue. Fireman Matthew Mulcahey of engine 88, Chicago, was seriously injured when struck by debris from a falling brick wall. The flames destroyed the waiting room of the Chicago and Joliet electric railway in the building.

Tenants in twenty-five apartments at 2636-38 Orchard street, shivered in the street during the afternoon as flames swept through the building from the basement. Fire drove four servants from the home of E. O. Griffenhagen, a management engineer, at 56 East Elm street. Griffenhagen was away at the time.

While fighting another apartment house blaze at 5210 Lakewood avenue, Lieut. James O'Malley of engine 123 slipped on the icy pavement and suffered a leg injury. J. H. Hoar, his wife and two children sought shelter with neighbors.

41 Below in North Minnesota.
While the cold wave struck Chicago with Arctic force, the weather situation was far more acute in the middle west and northwest. At International Falls, Minn., on the Minnesota-Canada boundary, the temperature stood at 41 below. Records of eleven years standing fell at Duluth with the mercury at 34 below, and across the state line at Superior, Wis., hose lines froze as firemen battled a blaze which destroyed the plant of the Superior Journal with an estimate loss of $34,000. At Viroqua, Wis., snow plows from Salem, Bangor, and Rockland were bucking snow drifts to clear a Chi-ago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific passenger train which had been stalled since midnight on Saturday. The temperature stood at 29 below. The worst of the cold wave struck central Illinois last night, driving pedestrians off the streets. Temperatures at 8 to 10 below zero prevailed all day at Rockford and last night the mercury fell to 15 below.

COLD ARRIVES IN EAST.

New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—This city and the eastern seaboard experienced tonight the coldest weather of the winter when the mercury dropped suddenly after nightfall, and by 10 p. m. registered 12 degrees, two

NOZOL

Do not let a cold develop, but at the first signal—a sneeze—insert two drops of Nozol in each nostril.

This weather makes it easy to catch colds, but Nozol makes it just as easy to get rid of them and keep them away. Nozol is quick acting. Nozol can be handily carried in pocket or bag, and at any time or place the dropper-stopper used to administer the cold-exterminating drops.

3-WAY PROTECTION

- 1— Nozol releases vapors that breathe your cold away.
- 2— Nozol clings to the membrane of the nose and throat and germs cannot lodge.
- 3— Nozol washes away mucus and keeps the passage clear.

Two sizes

PACIFISTS SURE OF PEACE PACT O. K., IT APPEARS

And Think They'll Kill 15 Cruiser Bill.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—Pacifist groups are displaying increased confidence in their power to control the present congress.
Not only are they determined to force ratification of the Kellogg war renunciation treaty without reservation or interpretation, but they are becoming more sanguine of their ability to kill the administration 15 cruiser bill by the filibuster method.
The treaty situation is expected to come to a head during the present week. The pacifists, much as they desire approval of the treaty, apparently are willing that the debate should be dragged out to a considerable length in order to give a better opportunity for a successful filibuster against the cruiser bill.

Ratification Seems Sure.
There seems no question but that the treaty will be ratified by the required two-thirds vote. The treaty is the unfinished business before the senate in open executive session and thus has the right of way. The only chance of getting action on numerous pieces of legislation which are hanging fire is to dispose of the treaty. Hence it is a certainty that the treaty will come to a vote shortly.
Not only has the nation-wide pacifist propaganda for the treaty asured its ratification, but the same influences appear to have made it almost an equal certainty that those who have urged some sort of an official interpretation of the treaty are doomed to defeat.

President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg have stood with pacifists in opposition to reservations, although the officials will be on the other side of the preparedness issue when the cruiser bill comes before the senate.

Bingham to Push Fight.
Senator Hiram Bingham (Rep., Conn.), who has circulated a round robin among senators urging the foreign relations committee to present a report interpreting the treaty, intends to press this proposition.
It seems likely, however, that a majority will take the pacifist view that the senate should approve the general renunciation of war without undertaking either to reserve the right to maintain the Monroe Doctrine or make it clear that this country cannot accept any obligation to resort to punitive measures against offending nations or otherwise to become involved in the affairs of European countries.

Senator William E. Borah (Rep., Idaho), who is in charge of the treaty, now does not expect a final vote before the middle of the week. Originally he predicted that only four or five days would be required for its consideration.

Number 9 of a Series on *Metropolitan Chicago

—showing why Metropolitan Chicago has every possibility of becoming the world's foremost Metropolitan center—in population as well as in trade importance—and that in a day relatively near.

METROPOLITAN CHICAGO— HUB OF AMERICA'S AIRWAYS

If anyone doubts that air travel is today an established and important factor in American transportation, let him but study the heavy lines on the above map.
Daily scheduled mail, express and passenger service is now being operated over 16,486 miles of airways in the United States, and the planes in service over these airways travel 38,902 miles daily, of which 20,098 miles are scheduled to and from Chicago.

Travel by air has logically established its hub in *Metropolitan Chicago, the great central metropolis, close to the geographic centers of population, manufacture and agriculture. Chicago is the world's foremost railroad center, the world's largest inland port, and the central link in America's vast chain of motor highways—affording unequalled facilities for inter-connection between air and other transportation.

The volume of air mail and express handled in Chicago is more than double that handled in any other city, and Chicago's Municipal Airport [at Sixty-third Street and Cicero Avenue] is the busiest commercial airport in the United States. In December, 1928—a winter month—landings and take-offs during daylight hours were made at this field on an average of almost every three minutes!

Chicago now has thirty-six scheduled arrivals and departures of mail, passenger and express planes every day, a number exceeded only at Tempelhof Airport, Berlin, Germany. The Chicago Municipal Airport was officially opened just a year ago last December. Yet it is expected that the present field will be outgrown before next summer is over. Already plans have been made to double the area of the field, affording quadrupled accommodations. In addition to the Municipal Airport, Metropolitan Chicago has more than a dozen other active aviation fields.

A proposal is now receiving consideration, and appears likely of adoption, for the building of another airport on the lake front at Sixteenth Street, just ten minutes distant from the Loop... Chicago's position with reference to air transportation is another important factor adding to Chicago's progress toward becoming the world's greatest metropolitan center.

This series on Metropolitan Chicago, when completed, will be bound in booklet form. Address Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, 72 W. Adams St., Chicago, and a copy will be reserved for you. There will be no charge.

GOOD *P*ERFORMANCE WITH *E*CONOMY

THE new Ford is more than a new automobile. It is the expression of an ideal—an ideal that looks to bringing the benefits of modern transportation to all the people.

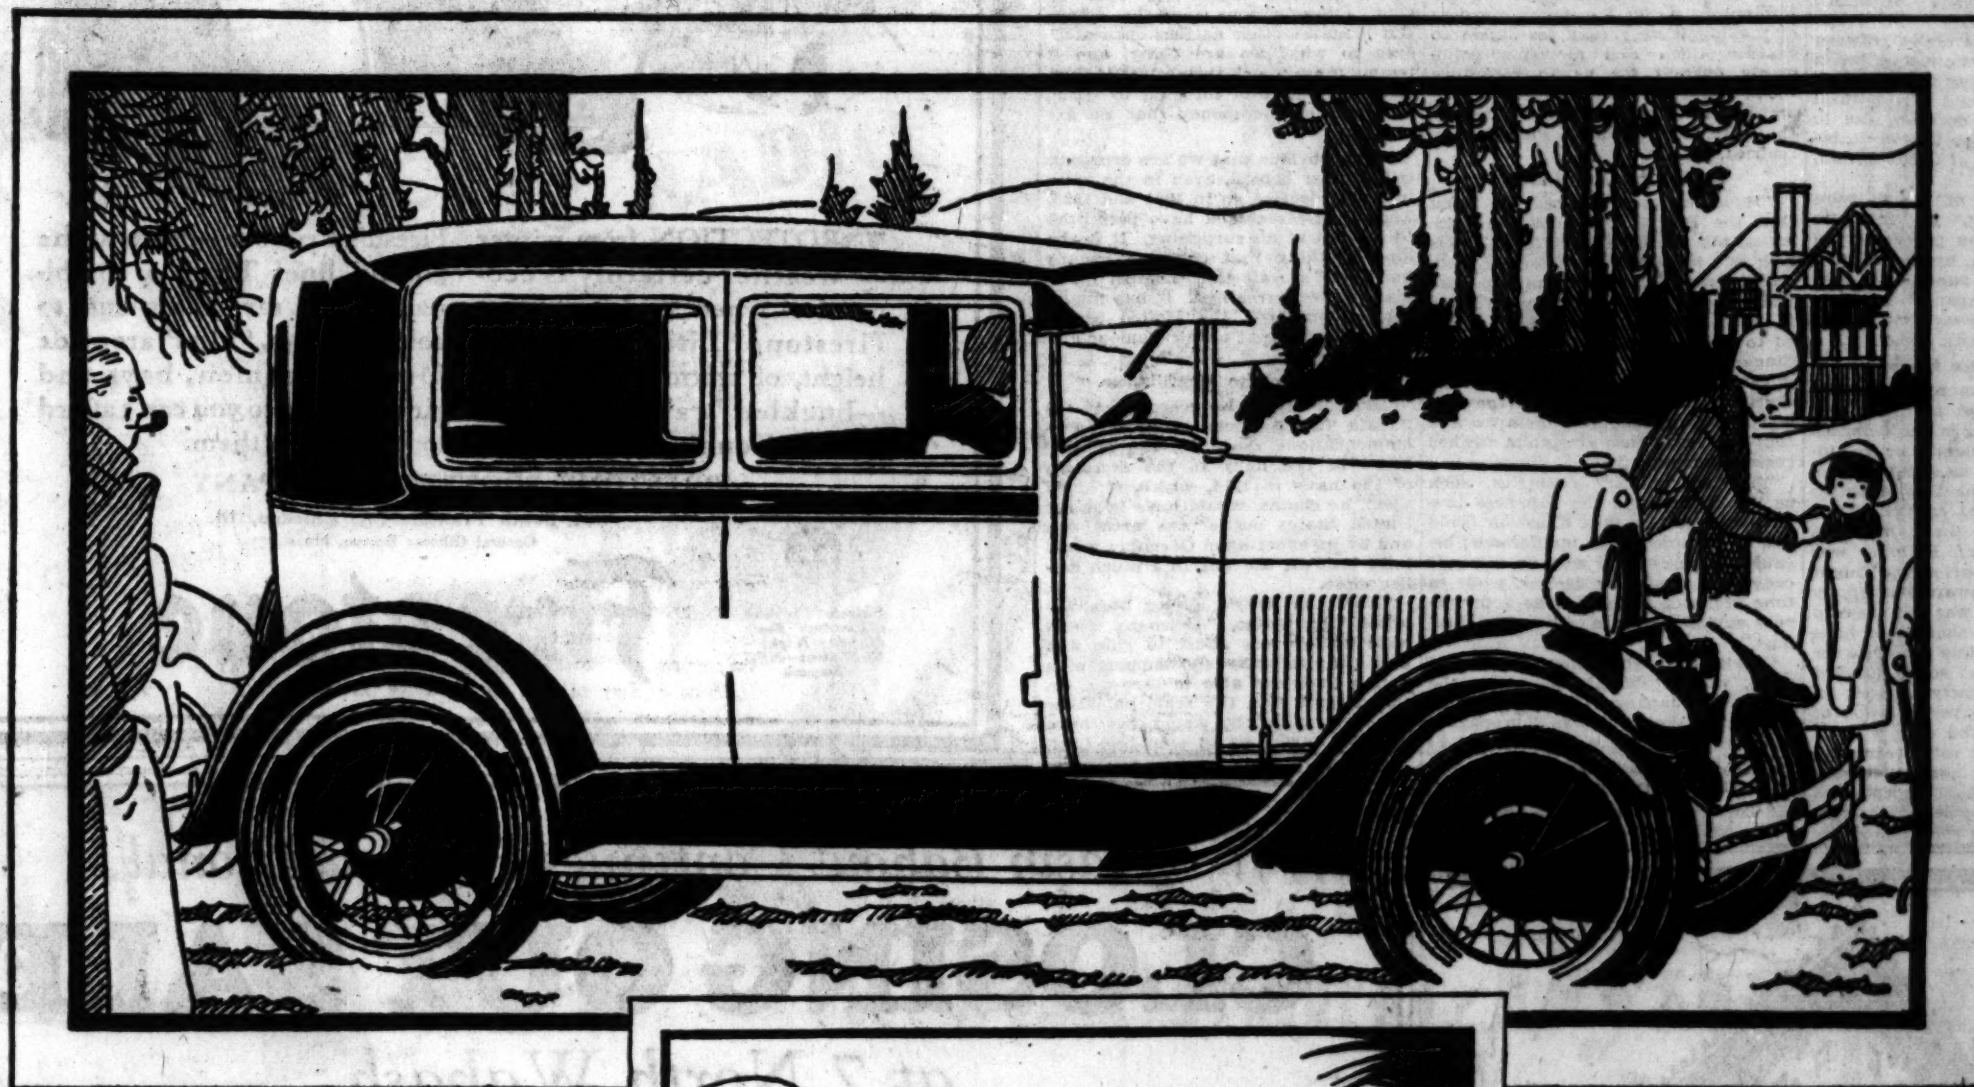

Because of this purpose, the price is low and great care has been taken to insure economy of operation and up-keep. Few features are of greater importance to millions of motorists.

Conservative figures show that the new Ford averages 20 miles per gallon of gasoline, with many Ford owners reporting greater mileage on long trips. Oil consumption is also low per hundred miles. There is a considerable saving on tires due to the balance of the car, ease of steering and perfected wheel design.

All tires used on new Ford cars and recommended for replacement are specially built by leading tire manufacturers according to specifications laid down by the Ford Motor Company. Mechanical up-keep is low because of simplicity of design and the enduring quality that has been built into every part.

FEATURES OF THE NEW FORD CAR

Beautiful low lines
Choice of colors
Quick acceleration
Smoothness at all speeds
55 to 65 miles an hour
Silent, mechanical internal-expanding six-brake system, with all braking surfaces fully enclosed
Four Houdaille shock absorbers
Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield
Economy of operation and up-keep Reliability and long life
Zerk-Alemite chassis lubrication
Universal Credit Company Plan of Time Payments

Large corporations have proved Ford economy

Definite evidence of the economy of the new Ford is shown in the repeated and growing purchases by Federal and city governments, by police departments, and by large industrial companies which keep day-by-day cost records.

The new Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests covering every feature of automobile value and performance—from the time of purchase to the final trade-in. Here the Ford policy of not making yearly changes serves to protect and maintain the investment of every Ford owner. All improvements in the new Ford are made so that present owners may take advantage of them quickly and at low cost.

The economy of good service at a fair price

The availability of Ford dealers throughout the world and close factory supervision of all service are additional reasons for the economy of the new Ford.

It has always been our belief that a sale does not complete the transaction between us and the buyer but establishes a new obligation on us to see that his car gives him service. We are as much interested in his economical operation of the car as he is in our economical manufacture of it.

The new Ford Tudor Sedan. A splendid family car because of its economy, comfort, safety, reliability, speed, power, acceleration and ease of operation and control. Finished in a choice of beautiful two-tone color harmonies. Richly upholstered. All appointments fully nickeled.

The new Ford Coupe is a particularly good example of beauty and utility. Built to serve you faithfully and well for many thousands of miles. Equipped with Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield and four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers.

For that reason we have installed a system of controlled service to take care of all Ford car needs in an economical and improved manner. We wish all Ford owners to know what they are entitled to in this respect so that they may readily avail themselves of this service.

Ford service more important than sales

This service begins with proper instruction when you buy the car and includes a free inspection at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. It continues as long as you are a Ford owner.

No matter where you live or where you go, you will never be very far from a Ford dealer who has been specially trained and equipped to give you courteous, intelligent, economical service. The cost of new parts is low because of the established Ford policy of doing business at a small margin of profit.

The purpose of Ford service is identical with that for which the car itself was built—to help you get many thousands of miles of pleasant, enjoyable motoring at a minimum of trouble and expense. "Good performance with economy" is the reason for the unusual value that is brought to you in the new Ford.

SLY BRITISH SAP U. S. SEA POWER, AD. FISKE SAYS

Washington Parley a
"Colossal Blunder."

That the United States is in a situation at once ridiculous and dangerous because we have allowed ourselves to be duped by British diplomacy, is the substance of Admiral Bradley A. Fiske's article, "How British Guile Scuttled Our Navy," to be published in the February issue of "Plain Talk."

Calling the 1922 limitation of armament conference, which was so widely applauded at the time, a great blunder of statesmanship, Admiral Fiske says that "with the purest intentions in the world, we have allowed ourselves to be cajoled into giving up, not only our naval supremacy of the sea, but also the only considerable base we had in the world—the Philippine Islands. For let us realize frankly that our agreeing not to increase the wholly inadequate defenses of the Philippine Islands has made it not only possible, but easy, for Japan to capture them whenever she wishes."

Calls It British Victory.
Admiral Fiske claims that the United States was inveigled into calling the conference by British propaganda and that we played right into the hands of the English and Japanese diplomats, allowing them to come off with an advantage so great that it has been aptly termed "Britain's greatest naval victory."

The conference was really between two parties, Great Britain and Japan being allies and working together. Admiral Fiske writes, and the natural result was that the decision was to the disadvantage of the United States and to the advantage of Great Britain and Japan.

Philippine Defense Blocked.
"The other was an agreement by the United States not to make any further improvements in the defenses of the Philippine Islands or to increase their capacity as a naval base. This wiped out the United States as the principal rival of Britain on the sea to a degree that Americans do not realize."

Mr. Balfour was promptly created an earl and a Knight of the Garter. The reward was wholly inadequate. There was no reward possible on the earth that would have been even approximately adequate for a triumph of diplomacy so magnificent and complete, so clearly implicit in the assurance of the perpetuation of Britain's empire on the sea.

Tells Singapore Menace.
"The situation since," Admiral Fiske continues, "has been made imapproximate ratio between the resources of the United States and Japan.

Gives Japan Advantage.
"But this reasonableness is only apparent. It is not real, for the simple reason that, in any war between this country and Japan, our fleet would have to go to Japan, 7,000 miles away from our bases in the United States and very close to the bases of Japan, and accept a strategic disadvantage so great that the five to three ratio is not anywhere near great enough to permit our fleet to fight with any reasonable prospect of success."

Admiral Fiske, who was with Admiral Dewey in the battle of Manila, states that "for both peace and war, it was highly desirable for Britain and Japan to get rid of our naval base at Manila."

Outflanked by Manila.
"Our agreement not to defend the Philippines serves the double purpose of making it very easy for Japan to capture them and almost superhumanly difficult for us to recapture them. That the value of these considerations is thoroughly appreciated by the British and Japanese will be easily realized."

"It is necessary to bear in mind that the British and Japanese were held and had been allies for virtually twenty years and that the Japanese had at least two powerful naval bases in Japan, while the British had decided to build a powerful naval base at Singapore. By looking at any map, it can be seen that the 'communications' of these two allies in the east lay between Singapore and Japan and that our naval base at Manila flanked these communications."

"To two military countries, such as the British and the Japanese, pre-eminently are, such a situation could not be regarded with indifference; because, in case of war with us, it would constitute a military disaster, while in time of peace it constitutes a permanent vantage point in commercial dealings."

Charles E. Hughes, then secretary of state, was thoroughly to the point of the British and Japanese diplomats, states Admiral Fiske, and was "propagandized into a condition so emotional as almost to constitute psychosis."

"The situation since," Admiral Fiske continues, "has been made immeasurably worse by the fact that, while we have based ourselves not to make any improvements whatever in our feeble little base at Manila, Britain has proceeded with characteristic British determination and thoroughness to complete her naval base at Singapore at a cost of at least $15,000,000. There is no pretense whatever that this base is anything but a naval base. The British do not pretend that it is for any purpose whatever except the use of force, whenever ability to take advantage of the use of force may seem to them desirable.

"It must be plain to any intelligent person now that the present situation was brought about as the result of proper foresight and persuasive ability on the part of the British and Japanese at the conference in Washington combined with an amazing lack of foresight and a fatuous credulity on the part of our American delegates. Nowhere in history can there be found an equal lack of common sense on the part of any man of national standing, entrusted with the country's safety."

No sane person, Admiral Fiske continues, could have expected Great Britain to yield in the subsequent Geneva conference of 1927 any of the tremendous advantage that she had won.

U. S. Wealth Tempts World.
"No people can surpass the Americans in shrewd business dealings with each other, and yet no other nation has ever approximated the childish faith in human nature which Americans as a nation show in European nations. We, as the richest nation in the world, the nation becoming richer still and with amazing speed, are so absorbed in making money that we fail to realize that other nations may not look at many matters as we do. The very fact of our absorption in money making shuts our eyes to what other nations may be doing. But it makes other nations open their eyes to what we are doing, and it tempts them to ask themselves if they cannot, by guile or force (or by both), get some of the money that we are making."

"It is obvious that we are dropping still farther behind, even in the ratio in power decided on in 1921 and 1922. That Congress should have permitted this is not at all surprising. It is the kind of thing that Congress usually has done, a trait that English diplomats perfectly realized. It has finally come about that the United States is in a situation at once ridiculous and dangerous."

Goos Back to World War.
Admiral Fiske also rehearses in his "Plain Talk" article the defense recommendations made by the general board of the navy to the secretary of the navy in 1914, which, if acted upon, he claims, would have kept the United States out of the great war and by its effect upon Germany would have brought the war to a much earlier close.

"Had the navy's advice been followed," he writes, "Germany would have made every effort to gain and hold the sympathy and support of a nation that was able to throw a deciding force into the scale on either side and certainly would not have been so unwise as to sink the Lusitania."

Charles E. Hughes, then secretary of state, was thoroughly to the point of the British and Japanese diplomats, states Admiral Fiske, and was "propagandized into a condition so emotional as almost to constitute psychosis."

BRITAIN STIRRED
BY RAPID GROWTH OF BUREAUCRACY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Jan. 13.—Despite the rigid economy orders of parliament, the British government continues merrily building up an elaborate bureaucracy. This is noted with genuine concern in certain quarters. It is pointed out that Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill's solemn promise to reduce the civil service met with an actual addition of 549 officials on the state pay roll during the last quarter. Although 405 extra positions were presumably justified by the greater profits of increasing business, the admitted heavy increase in the home office and the war office are difficult to explain in view of the decreased numbers of sailors, soldiers and prisoners.

Since 1914 half of the country's jails have been closed and the prison population has fallen off 100,000. Despite measurably worse by the fact that, while we have based ourselves not to make any improvements whatever in our feeble little base at Manila, Britain has proceeded with characteristic British determination and thoroughness to complete her naval base at Singapore at a cost of at least $15,000,000. And now presented in a superb full-length console cabinet at the amazingly low price of only

LESS TUBES

New Type Electro-Dynamic Speaker

The Philco Console

A low console cabinet of exquisite design in the Louis XVI period style, created by Albert Carl Mowitz. Its lines are of simple elegance, thoroughly in keeping with the highest standards of furniture design. Walnut panels, carefully selected for beauty of grain and expertly matched. No nails or screws. All joints dovetailed and glued—in every respect a high-grade piece of cabinet work.

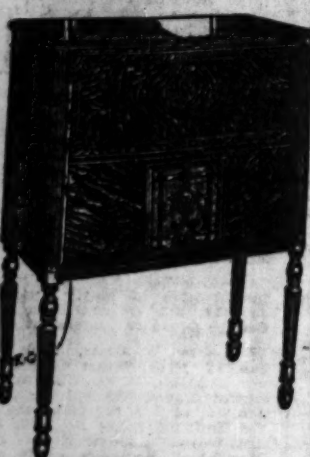

Contains the 8-tube (including rectifier) Philco Receiver; power supply; built-in aerial; portable ground and the New Type Philco Electro-Dynamic Speaker. Price without tubes $157—an Amazing Value!

The Highboy

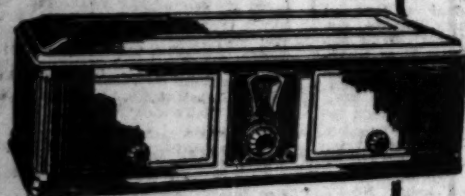

A masterpiece of cabinet design by Albert Carl Mowitz, an international authority in the furniture arts. A modern conception of the Louis XVI period style. Handsomely matched butt walnut panels, fluted legs and pillars, swinging doors. The cabinet is constructed with painstaking care—all joints dovetailed and glued—no nails, dials or screws. Exquisite finish brings out all the natural beauty of the walnut.

This model contains the 8-tube (including rectifier) Philco Receiver; power supply; built-in aerial, portable ground, phonograph connection to play records electrically, and the New Type Philco Electro-Dynamic Speaker.

The Lowboy

Another Louis XVI design by Albert Carl Mowitz, for those who prefer a low cabinet. Handsomely matched butt walnut panels. The drop door, when open, forms a convenient arm-rest for tuning. Fluted legs and pillars. No nails or screws. All joints dovetailed and glued. Exquisite finish.

The Table Model

The Philco table cabinet is of simple, classic design, finished in a rich, two-tone Spanish Brown which will harmonize perfectly with any interior. It contains the 7-tube (including rectifier) Philco Receiver, power supply, phonograph connection, built-in aerial and portable ground.

The Philco Speaker

A speaker specially designed for use with the Philco Table Model Radio. Reproduces the entire musical range, high notes as well as low notes, in perfect balance and proportion. A full, broad, life-like tone. And a fit companion to Neutrodyne-Plus.

AND these new 1929 models contain Philco's own radio discovery—Neutrodyne-Plus—which has thrilled the radio world with its startling performance. Philco owners everywhere tell of results never before equaled in radio—distance range, selectivity and rare purity of tone. Wherever Philco has been put to the test it has won out on superior performance. Thousands of testimonials from enthusiastic Philco set owners bear witness to the flawless operation of the "Neutrodyne-Plus."

NOW—

Greater Than Ever!

And now, in the new 1929 model, every quality that has made for such phenomenal performance in the Philco has been redoubled! 8 tubes now (including rectifier)—greater power than ever, greater response and even sharper tuning! Distance range that is nothing short of amazing! And the New Type Electro-Dynamic Speaker. Tremendous volume without distortion. And startlingly true to life!

An Astounding Value

And then—most surprising of all—Philco makes this superb quality radio available to you at a price of only $157 in an exquisite, full-length Console Cabinet. Truly, the most remarkable value on the radio market today!

Time in on the Philco Hour at 8:30 Central Standard Time every Friday Evening

Philco engineers have perfected the Dynamic Speaker!

Gone the "rain-barrel" effect! Gone the unnatural emphasis on the low tones. No more is the melody lost in the unmusical "boom, boom, boom" of the bass. No more blurred and unnatural speech.

In the New Type Electro-Dynamic Speaker, Philco engineers have restored the high tones to their proper place, while preserving the pleasing background of the lows. Music reaches your ears with correct emphasis on the melody in relation to the bass. Speech is wonderfully clear and distinct. The whole effect is startlingly true to life.

And volume! You can turn on the power till the volume is even too loud for comfortable reception—and still there is no distortion, no rattle. All the sparkle and brilliance of the original tone is RE-produced.

The secret of the amazing efficiency of the Philco Electro-Dynamic Speaker lies in seven major improvements of exclusive Philco design. Fully explained in the Free Philco Booklet. See coupon below.

Neutrodyne-Plus

Power, super-power—that's the secret of Neutrodyne-Plus. Philco's power to perform under the most difficult local conditions; the power to reach out over vast distances, even during the daytime; the power for split-hair tuning of stations. This great power Philco engineers have added for the first time to Neutrodyne, famous for its pure, clear tone. Thousands, the country over, are praising the wonders of Neutrodyne-Plus.

No Aerial Needed

Philco needs no aerial for local and many distant stations. All electric—entirely dry. Phonograph connection on the dial plate of Highboy and Lowboy models to play records electrically. Special range control cuts out local interference and separates distant stations. 8 tubes, including rectifier, push-pull amplification. One-dial control. Few condensers. Many other features fully described in Free Philco Booklet—Send coupon.

CASCADE TUNNEL PAINTED AS EPIC OF RAIL BUILDING

Budd Tells Drama of Job, First Train Goes Through

Cascade Tunnel, Scenic, Wash., Jan. 13.—America's longest railroad tunnel was dedicated here last night.

The tunnel, bored 7.79 miles through the Cascade mountains between eastern and western Washington by the Great Northern railroad, was dedicated by Ralph Budd, president of the road, to the memory of James J. Hill, "em- ployer builder," and founder of the line.

Twenty-seven coaches composed the first train through. Railroad officials mingled with state officials and civil engineers in the long train. After a twenty-minute ride a mile beneath the summit of the snow clad

Cascade range, the train halted at the west portal, where a banquet was served in the construction camp where many of the 1,700 men who drilled, blasted and mucked their way through almost eight miles of granite lived during work on the project.

Budd, in dedicating the tunnel, handed the work of the men who fought their way through the mountain in three years.

"Thousands of feet under the mountains, working at times in water knee deep, with fresh drenchings at each round of blasting, there was no stopping or even slackening of pace," the Great Northern president said. "They changed shifts at the handles of the drills. A thrilling sight it was: members of one crew splashing in and taking hold of the machines before the others let them go. A constant watering was kept up every minute of every hour of every day and every night for thirty-five months. Drilling, blasting, mucking out the broken rock, then over again, eight feet gained at each round, five rounds in 24 hours, all by machinery, but machinery in the hands of enthusiastic expert workmen. There was no letting up until the last foot of tunnel had been excavated and the entire bore lined with concrete."

The train, headed by a locomotive, passed on Jan. 13, at 8 p. m., through the tunnel, the last of the line. The train was headed by a locomotive, the last of the line.

HOLD TWO MEN AS SUSPECTED PALS OF SLAIN BANDIT

Two men were held by the Highland Park police last night as suspected partners of a burglar who was shot and killed early yesterday while looting Samuel Bell's clothing store at 17 South St. John's street in the suburb.

The slain man was identified as Joseph Brazo, 24 years ago, 1218 West Madison street. He was fatally wounded by Patrolman Peter Loesh, 55 years old, when Loesh saw him and three others loading 15 suits of clothes into a sedan.

The suspects were seized as they attempted to board a Chicago bound interurban. They identified themselves as Jack Smith, 25 years old, 811 South Kedzie avenue, and Renato Santos, 28 years old, 1111 Blue Island avenue.

William Chavre, 28 years old, 4905 West Jackson boulevard, attendant at an oil station at Jackson boulevard and Ordway avenue, was held up last night and robbed of $25.

WALL ST. TOUTS BRANCH OUT TO BUILD UP TRADE

Fancy New Rackets Used to Land "Suckers."

BY TOM PETTEY.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, Jan. 13.—[Special.]—The racketeers of Wall street who have been squandering rights on the fringe of the gold canyon for years are coming out in the open now that the stock market has become a familiar affair. Today they are "building up the rackets" with a dozen fancy new rackets that would make the old time racketeer operator reach for his own pocketbook.

The wise guys of Manhattan can play anything from a dollar bill to a second mortgage on any stock on the big board, for the Wall street tipsters have learned about the stock market from the race track touts and are putting out a form sheet on the financial district's fast steps.

It is the "prospect" insists on a double check before digging down in the toe of his sock for his bank roll he can obtain occult advice without going to Hoboken. There are seen within the range of the Wall street ticker clutter and for a few dollars one may consult their oracle and learn the secret of "beating the stock market."

Go After the Cautious.

But the big play these days is being made for the canny investor—the man or woman who has to be shown. The tipsters of Wall street have doped out a scheme to show them. This is the way it works, and it is bringing in a harvest of millions for the racketeers.

It starts with the "sucker list," the names and addresses of those who have been nipped before. Such lists bring real money in the financial district and are eagerly sought. Then the racketeers rent a luxurious office, was their list and determine upon the prospects.

It becomes a process of "building up" the sucker. He gets a "market letter" which informs the prospect that this firm wants him for a client and is seeking to protect him from the parasites of Wall street. The letter contains a carefully compiled analysis of a dozen or more high grade stocks. It is conscientious and unbiased in its opinions. Some of the racketeers even issue their own financial magazines or papers.

Finally Land Client.

Other letters in the same tone follow, usually giving dope on stocks that have jumped sensationally in the past. Finally the sucker becomes a client. The firm honestly tries to make money for him, and, if it fails, gets up its own cash to insure the client a profit. He becomes sold with the idea that this is just the organization he has been looking for all the years. Then he begins giving the firm "discretionary orders." The firm does not always speculate on the margin with the customer's cash but the victim continues to get the breaks. Finally he decides to shoot the roll and it is then that something always happens. The victim seldom yelps, for he is not quite sure he has been bilked.

A bit of multiplication applied to this process will indicate that the racketeers' business is lucrative.

The tipsters of the street play the game on a lower scale. The latest to come out in the open handbills himself as the "genius of Wall street," and for $1 any one may purchase one of his brightly colored leaflets.

Typical Tipster Sheet.

"How to Win in Wall Street" is printed boldly across the top of the sheet. Then comes a forecast of the principal buying and selling waves for the week as the "genius" has them started. It even tells what will happen from hour to hour, but in this forecast the "genius" is given to hedging and he discusses stocks in groups.

At the office of "Ticker Tips" the "genius" was identified as Ricardo Rex, but Mr. Rex made no personal appearance.

"Everything he says comes true," affirmed one faithful handbill seller. "Why doesn't he play his own tips and quit this dollar racket?" the handbill man was asked.

"Just lack of capital, that's all," he explained.

646,752 Pleasure Autos in Wisconsin Last Year

Madison, Wis., Jan. 13.—[Special.]—An increase of 36,802 motor vehicles was registered in Wisconsin in 1928, according to a report filed by the secretary of state's office. The registration on Dec. 31 was 749,757 cars, of which 646,752 were pleasure automobiles.

Eight other members of the party were buried under the great rush of snow. They managed to dig their way out, although all were severely injured.

They were unable to search for the bodies of their companions because of their own condition. After overcoming the greatest difficulties they made their way down the mountainside.

Two other parties left immediately to search for the victims of the avalanche, who were buried near the peak.

TO THE OFFICIALS AND THE PEOPLE OF CHICAGO ON Our Deplorable Traction Situation

Representing the interest of 1,250,000 or more residents of this city suffering from lack of adequate transportation, we, editors and publishers of foreign language newspapers published here, deploring the continued chaos of the traction situation, make this appeal to you as loyal Chicagoans:

1. Let the VOTERS decide whether
An indeterminate grant to a unified Insull-Blair-Busby company, OR
A twenty-year grant to a company organized by Lisman and Associates
Is best for Chicago.
2. Help bring about a selective referendum for this purpose on February 26, 1929.
3. Insist that the Insull-Blair-Busby group furnish to the Local Transportation Committee by January 22, 1929, their best offer in the form of a completed ordinance for the indeterminate grant they seek.
4. Insist that the Lisman group furnish the Local Transportation Committee by the same date their best offer in the form of a completed ordinance for the twenty-year grant they seek.
5. Urge the English press of Chicago to join this effort to force an immediate settlement of the traction problem.

Night-Dresses in Crepe de Chine
Of Unusual Quality Are Here
In This January Sale at $4.55

Imported lace in charming, unusual patterns adds its touch of luxury to the lovely silk crepe of most of these attractive gowns, while others are simply tailored. Important reasons, surely, for investing in these night-dresses—made doubly strong by the low price at which they are offered.

Those with lace use it in engaging fashion—some at the neck only, others at the bottom as well. Round, V or square necks, in tailored and semi-tailored styles, together with more elaborate. The colors include soft, rich shades of pink, peach, Nile, orchid, Lido.

MAC SMITH'S 285 WINS $10,000 GOLF MEET

PIRATES' GIFT FROM GARDNER TIES HAWKS, 1-1

Goalie Knocks Puck in Own Net.

BY HARLAND ROHM.
Johnny Gottselig, youthful Russian wing of the Blackhawks, took upon himself the job of countering an error by goalie Chuck Gardner on the Coliseum rink last night, and in consequence the Blackhawks added a second consecutive 1 to 1 tie to their record. Gardner, whose brilliant net minding has made up many of the Hawks' defensive deficiencies, scored the Pittsburgh Pirates' goal, though Frank Frederickson got credit for it. The 4,000 fans who braved worse than hockey temperatures saw a fast, clean game, which was marked primarily by the Hawks' inability to score goals when they had chances. In skating and stick handling, the Hawks played well, but their shooting was far off. Ripley missed four easy shots, and Irvin one or two of the kind he usually converts into points.

Frederickson was the mainspring of the Pirates, and he bothered Gardner not a little through the evening. Among the other things he accomplished was to poke his stick into Westworth's eye in the early minutes of the game. It seemed quite unintentional, and Frederickson was not penalized, but "Cyclone" wore a large cocoon of gauze and tape over the eye for the rest of the game.

Gardner Knocks Puck Into Net.
Though four penalties were meted out in the first period, in which the attack was practically even, most of them were for slight violations of the rules. Frederickson's bullet long shots, and two or three instances of nice combination work by Gottselig, Irvin, Cature and once a nice back pass by Ripley to Cature were the best parts of the attack.

The second period had gone only 25 seconds before Frederickson combined with Gardner to collect Pittsburgh's goal. After the scramble of the face-off, Frederickson took the puck and started around Art Lester, the Hawks' big new defenseman, who was on the ice only a few minutes. He shot from close in, and Gardner blocked it. With Frederickson bearing down on him, Gardner swung his stick to clear the puck and knocked it into the net.

WILDCATS HOPE FOR REVENGE AT OHIO TONIGHT

Defeated 3 Times, Purple Plans Comeback.

Surprised at finding the Wildcats without a victory instead of undefeated at the one-quarter post in the Western conference basketball race, Northwestern university basketball fans spent yesterday pondering the why and wherefore of the great decline.

Fisher's Loss Felt.
The loss of the dynamic Waldo Fisher is given as the great difference between last year's quintet and this year's outfit. Although Fisher was always regarded as an offensive mainstay, his defensive ability is a greater loss, according to Coach Dutch Lomborg. For the team itself, the most generous and general consensus is that the squad hasn't found itself yet.

PUTTING VICTORY ON ICE

Onell Farrell, Opal A. A., who won the Illinois speed skate championship at Douglas park yesterday, is first across the finish line in the class A 220 yard final. Victories in two other finals gave Onell the state title. Art Peters and Eddie Murphy, both of the Barrett A. C., finished second and third, respectively, in the above.

Walstad Triumphs with 169 Foot Jump.

Five thousand men and women feared the cold so little yesterday and enjoy skiing so much that they stood on snow covered ground with the mercury at 10 below zero for four hours while 74 jumpers leaped and slid and fell on the big slide at Cary, Ill.

Walstad Wins Class A.
Mr. Walstad, whose front name may be Harry, Henry, or Hans—the ski program only provides the initials, comes from Racine, Wis. He wasn't press agent to create much of a stir at the meet yesterday. Most of the talk had been about what the Haugen boys were going to do.

Paulsen First in Class B.
This, of course, ruled him and his mark, too. The 175 foot jump didn't count and Walstad got the credit for breaking the old record.

BEATS ARMOUR IN FINAL ROUND AT LOS ANGELES

Makes Successful Title Defense.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 13.—(AP)—As a curtain of darkness rolled over picturesque Santa Monica cañon tonight, MacDonald Smith, product of the windswept plains of Carnoustie, strode to a two time victory in the $10,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament.

Smith Played Steadily.
With his triumph, the lean Scot, who now claims Great Neck, Long Island, N. Y., as his home, carried off a first prize of $3,500.

Armour May Get $1,750.
But hopes that the Washington pro would continue that pace were shattered today when Armour fell five strokes over par on his morning round and was left at a disadvantage in the figures when he left off at the 17th because of darkness on the final 19 holes.

Eddie Loos Has 29.
Eddie Loos, who spends his winters golfing in southern California and his summers in Chicago, and Bobby Cruikshank of Purchase, N. Y., were in the 29th division, next to the temporary third place of Horton Smith. Loos garnered four rounds of 75-74-74-73, while Cruikshank had 75-74-74-72.

C. A. A. Hockey Team Wins 3 to 0 on an Open Air Rink

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 13.—(Special.)—On an open air rink in a 16 below zero temperature, the Chicago Athletic Association hockey team defeated the Kenosha Athletic club, 3 to 0. Fans stood around the edges of the rink in the cold through the match. The C. A. A. paid the penalty of their victory, however, in a series of frosted teeth and fingers, while Ping Hill, a young spare, from the tip of his nose. Shutz, rightwing, scored in the first period on a pass from Lynch and Lovelle and Robertson scored unassisted in the second period.

HENNEPIN BEATS FEENAN; RETAINS K. OF C. CAGE LEAD

Cunningham Scores Eleven Points for Victors.

Tommy Cunningham registered eleven points for Hennepin yesterday to enable his quintet to overcome Feenan's first half lead and win, 26 to 20 in the West division of the Knights of Columbus basketball league at the West Side clubhouse, Kilpatrick avenue and Madison street. The victory kept Hennepin in first place, while Feenan moved into the runner-up berth with a victory over Carroll. Hennepin lineup:

Canzoneri and Santiago Near Final Drill

Tony Canzoneri of New York and Armando Santiago of Cuba, who meet in the wintup of Promoter James C. Mullen's boxing show at the Coliseum Friday night, will start on the final lap of preparation today. The New York Italian is working at the Barry gymnasium and the Cuban at the Arcade.

Canzoneri, who is campaigning to regain the featherweight title which he lost to Andre Routis of France, is preparing to meet one of the hardest right hand punchers in the 126 pound division. But the New York Italian has a lot of confidence in his own punching ability. Canzoneri hopes to end the fight in the first round if Santiago leaves himself open for a right cross.

Santiago Gains Admirers.

Santiago won a lot of friends when he stopped Joey Sangor of Milwaukee in two rounds at the Coliseum a short time ago. Fans recall the beating Sangor gave Taylor last year, and they also remember the two great fights between Taylor and Canzoneri. One was called a draw, and Taylor was given the decision in the other. Santiago and Canzoneri will take gymnasium workouts again tomorrow and Wednesday.

The ten rounder between Mike Dundee of Rock Island and Sammy Dorfman of New York should be another interesting fight. Dundee always has been known for his hard right hand hitting. Dorfman also can hit with his right hand.

Shea to Box Bloom.

Eddie Shea, west side Italian featherweight, yesterday was matched to meet Lou Bloom of Detroit in the eighth ten rounder on the card. Bloom is credited with victories over Johnny Datto, Eddie O'Dowd, Babe Ruth, Mike O'Dowd, and many others. In his last start, Shea stopped Tony Mandell of Boston. Bloom will arrive in Chicago this morning to finish preparation at Barry's.

Johnny Erickson, New York 121 pounder, and Pete Garvon of Birmingham, Ala., will box in the six round encounter. Solly Schuman and Lou Wilson, local 116 pounders, will open the show in a four round bout.

Amateur Boxing Shows

Bob Tierney and Herbie Derex, local featherweights, will meet in the feature bout of the amateur show at the Knights of Columbus gymnasium, 4715 West Madison street, tonight. Joey Medill, local lightweight, will referee some of the bouts. Ladies accompanied by escorts will be admitted free.

Eight fights make up the card for the amateur show at the Apollo theater, Crawford and North avenues, tonight. Bill Speer has arranged the matches.

The Belle Plaine A. C. will hold its weekly show on Thursday night, and the Edmille Health club on Friday.

An all star card of eight bouts will be offered amateur boxing fans tonight at the Hollywood barn, Lawrence and Keeler. In one of the headliners Benjie Goldblatt meets Al Anzalone.

Oklahoma Gets Scare in First Big Six Game

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Missouri, Oklahoma, and Iowa State are tied for first place in the Big Six basketball conference following the opening games last week-end. Nebraska yielded to Missouri, 30 to 25. Kansas lost a close battle to Oklahoma, 27 to 25, and the Kansas Aggies fell before Iowa State, 41 to 30.

The feature game was played in Lawrence, where Kansas, generally picked by most critics to succumb easily to the 1928 Missouri valley champions, nearly beat Oklahoma. After ten minutes play the Jayhawkers led 14 to 2; at half time they held a 16 to 13 edge, and even as the gun cracked to end the game, Thompson had the ball running around the rim of the hoop, but it refused to drop in.

Missouri held the upper hand in the Nebraska game throughout, but never were the Tigers far enough in the lead to feel safe. The play of Harry Welsh, Missouri forward, who has stood out in each of the Tigers' four games to date, continued excellent as he flashed in and out of the Husker defense.

By the largest margin of the week-end tilts, Iowa State opened the Big Six season by stopping the Kansas Aggies Friday evening. The Kansases were doped to offer more stern opposition to the Cyclones than they did, but perhaps the result of two previous games in the week and much time on the road handicapped their play. In a pair of nonconference games early in the week the Aggies had lost to St. Louis university, 39 to 22, and won from Washington, 30 to 29.

The weasel in northern Illinois makes severe inroads on the quail population and later in the year kills other ground nesting birds.

Another black mark against this animal's character is his occasional attacks on the farmer's poultry yard. He's a killer of the first order, so any campaign of vermin control for the protection of game and song birds has to include a reduction in the weasel population.

Woods and Waters by BOB BECKER

ALTHOUGH the chipmunks, gophers, and woodchucks are tucked away in their underground dugouts for a long sleep during these cold winter days, there is one small mammal for which winter is just one hunt after another. This is the bloodthirsty, speedy, little weasel which refuses to hibernate in winter. On the contrary it keeps going through cold and snow, its nose always working overtime to pick up the scent of a mouse, rabbit or any animal that will serve as a meal.

We struck the tracks of a hunting weasel the other day on a cross country hike. The little animal (which further north assumes a white coat during the winter months) was operating along a fence where cover was thick. Weeds, tall grass, raspberry bushes and other vegetation made ideal hangouts for field mice as well as rabbits.

Inasmuch as field mice are active at this time of the year, a weasel can get many a meal by mouse hunting. Just before Christmas, when we were making our last Illinois duck hunt of the year, we sat in a blind overlooking a frozen pond and all around us in the grass we could see and hear the mice scratching and running on their little avenues through the vegetation.

The weasel in northern Illinois makes severe inroads on the quail population and later in the year kills other ground nesting birds.

Another black mark against this animal's character is his occasional attacks on the farmer's poultry yard. He's a killer of the first order, so any campaign of vermin control for the protection of game and song birds has to include a reduction in the weasel population.

BUSINESS HITS RAPID STRIDE IN VARIED LINES

Gotham Auto Show Among Features.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
New York, Jan. 13.—Business and industry are swinging back into the rapid stride which was so evident before the holiday and inventory taking periods interrupted it. It is to be noted that not all lines have advanced simultaneously but, nevertheless, in such important industries as iron and steel, copper, automobile manufacturing, implement and tool construction and in the coal trades there has been a very sharp and unmistakable upturn during the last ten days, with substantial increases in employment in the key cities of these industries.

Conventions and shows of many sorts have been held in the last ten days and these, notably the automobile show in New York, have stimulated particular trades to a remarkable degree.

Good Start.
Reports from the federal reserve districts of the country indicate that business generally has got away to a good start in January. Employment is on the increase in practically all of them and it may be said, generally, that these reports reflect a state of trade moderately more active than at this time last year and with especially good results in such important districts as Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland and Philadelphia. The sum total of retail trade in 1928 in a few sections of the country is shown to have fallen below that of 1927, but by small fractions.

Generally speaking, there is little complaint in the dispatches about the state of business.

In Detroit, for instance, there were 27,755 persons employed, compared with 25,551 in the previous week and 21,301 for the same week last year. A part of this gain is attributed to stepping up of operations in the Ford plant and the recent change in the Ford working hours to five days a week, with the consequent taking on of additional employees.

Steel Production.
Steel production has started the new year at a rapid rate, and the Chicago and Buffalo districts, as well as Pittsburgh, report an 85 to 87 per cent increase. Unfilled steel orders as of Dec. 31 increased to 3,976,712 tons, or 8.2 per cent over Nov. 30. Pig iron production in December was the heaviest since 1915.

The automotive industry, naturally stimulated by the show in New York, reports sales of new cars well ahead of the same period last year. Retail trade in the industry through the merging of several companies have proved beneficial.

Coolidge Asks U. S. Help for Barge Building

BY SCRUTATOR.
President Coolidge has recommended that congress appropriate ten million dollars for the purchase of additional stock of the Inland Waterways corporation and Maj. Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, head of the firm, has outlined a tentative plan to build barges and boats to handle the commerce that will pass over the lake-gulf waterway when it is completed in 1931.

The waterway will be of no use unless barge lines are ready for it. The government is going to furnish the lines, because private capital has not been available for this work. Repeatedly it has been stated that as soon as it can be done the federal equipment will be sold to private interests. The United States is only the temporary owner of a transportation system.

Freight Available.
It has been estimated that the freight available to the barges on the Mississippi system, eastward, will be nearly seven million tons annually. Water rates are cheaper than rail rates. According to an attorney who has made intensive studies in commission matters the federal principle that the barge line rate should be 20 per cent less than the amount charged by the railroads between the same points.

"That much," he said, "is necessary to make the slower moving waterborne transportation attractive. But the value of a waterway with an operating barge service lies more in its power to compel better railroad rates than in the savings on the actual shipments over it."

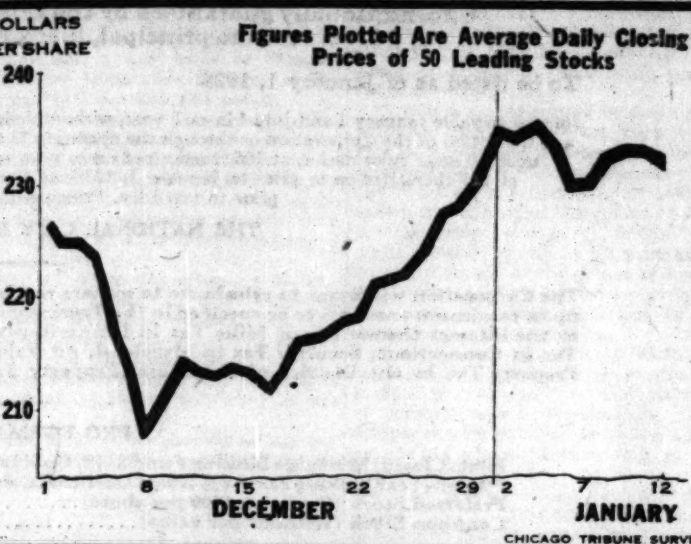

Rail rates generally are low where there is water transportation and high where there is none. Consequently, some railroads and railroad publications have adopted a hostile attitude toward the waterways, refusing to cooperate in making joint rail-water rates.

Render Full Aid.
The Illinois Central and the Missouri Pacific, the attorney said, had adopted the other attitude and given the waterway full aid, apparently believing that the development of export business at the gulf ports would increase their own traffic and outweigh any disadvantages to them.

This theory—that rail and water benefit—has long been one of the favorites of waterway advocates. It has been figured that farmers save 5 cents a hundred pounds on grain shipments from St. Louis to New Orleans for export. The total traffic on the Mississippi barges in 1927 was nearly a million and a quarter tons, and of this, it was stated, 51 per cent represented joint rail and water transport.

Int. Super Power Stock Goes on Market Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
New York, Jan. 13.—A block of 50,000 shares of International Super Power corporation capital stock will be placed on the market today by Calvin Bullock, priced at $51.50 a share. When the company was organized last October, a similar amount of stock was offered at $48 a share. The company invests and deals in securities of public utilities companies. It reports profits for the period from Oct. 25, 1928, to Dec. 31, 1928, after all charges.

Morgan to Pay Large Sums on Italy's Bonds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
New York, Jan. 13.—J. P. Morgan & Co., as fiscal agents, have notified holders of Credit Consortium for Public Works of Italy external loan sinking fund 7 per cent secured gold bonds, that $177,000 of series A bonds, due in 1937, and $99,000 of series B bonds, due in 1947, have been drawn by lot for redemption at par on March 1 at their office.

Big Sales of Bonds Reveal Chicago Gains

New bond financing during 1928 gave a demonstration of Chicago's advance as the financial capital of the middle west, according to a statistical review just compiled by Lawrence Stern & Co.

Investment banking institutions in Chicago originated bond issues aggregating $388,538,000 during the year just finished although the total bond business in the country as a whole showed a drop of more than two billion dollars from the total floated in 1927.

The 1928 volume of financing, it was stated, consisted of 243 corporate and foreign issues, totaling $788,988,000 and 22 municipal issues amounting to $111,550,000. Three issues were in excess of $50,000,000, six others of $25,000,000 or more, and ten others in excess of $15,000,000.

"Chicago's unprecedented progress toward increasing its importance as a major financial and investment center," says the Stern review, "is due, not only to the importance of the market served by Chicago, but also, in a considerable degree, to an increasing feeling on the part of western financiers that the financing of western industry should be undertaken and distributed in this territory. This growing feeling bids fair to bring about a steadily increasing volume of financing by Chicago houses, and a steadily increasing independence of the New York market."

"In view of this situation, there is a notable tendency on the part of eastern banking institutions to have senior partners located in Chicago, operating in direct contact with western business."

Many corporations, particularly those in the Chicago territory, who formerly handled their financing in the New York market now place their capital issues through Chicago houses as a matter of course.

WILSON & CO.'S REPORT SHOWS GOOD PROFITS

Sales About Ten Million Over 1928's.

BY O. A. MATHER.
Wilson & Co., the last of the "Big Four" meat packing concerns to issue an annual report, followed the others in having a profitable year. Volume of sales for the fiscal year ended Oct. 27, 1928, exceeded $285,000,000, compared with about $285,000,000 in the preceding year.

Profits made an even better relative showing. Net earnings were $2,207,876, showing a gain over the $2,007,876, or 10 per cent, of the preceding year. Dividends on the $28,602,000 seven per cent cumulative preferred stock to 57 cents a share on the $57,538 class A shares of $5 par value. No dividends were paid on the preferred stock and as dividends became cumulative after Nov. 1, 1927, there now is an accumulation of $7 a share, or a total of $2,002,182. However, a dividend of $1.75 was paid after the end of the fiscal year.

In Preceding Year.
In the preceding fiscal year the company earned only $147,386, which was equivalent to 51 cents a share on the preferred stock. Earnings for both years were carried to surplus, which now stands at $4,555,593.

"Operations resulted in considerable improvement in profit over the previous year but not as satisfactory as the earlier months of the year seemed to promise," President Thomas E. Wilson says in his report. "High cattle prices, affecting consumption, made it difficult to avoid losses in the beef end of the business; pork products were on a more favorable basis, although prices declined toward the end of the year."

Maintains Position.
"The strong financial position of the company has been well maintained. Current assets are nearly nine times current liabilities and are $12,919,087 in excess of all liabilities. Working capital amounts to $40,266,027. We look forward to the new year confident of increased profits. Inventories are on a favorable basis and there continues to be an increasing demand for our products."

Show Causes Larger Sales of Furniture

BY THOMAS FURLONG.
Reports from exhibitors and manufacturers at the end of the first week of the tenth major furniture show being held at the American Furniture Mart are unanimously agreed that larger orders have been written than during the first week of any similar period in previous years.

The demand for quality furniture is one of the outstanding features of the show so far, according to V. L. Alward, president of the mart.

"The manufacturers have a realization that they must give greater value to the ultimate consumer without reference to price. The public is constantly becoming more discriminating and is more interested in attractive designs and construction than it is in the price."

Noticeable Trend.
According to various manufacturers who are exhibiting at the mart there is a noticeable trend toward doing away with frills and furbelows and concentrating on solid values of design.

It is estimated by Mr. Alward that the semi-annual shows bring millions of dollars annually to Chicago. According to figures compiled by the research bureau of the mart each of the last five shows have been attended by 6,500 buyers. The heads of 750 manufacturing concerns likewise attend and the salesmen for these manufacturing exhibitors number 2,715. The survey shows that these men spend $15 a day in the city. Many of course spend more than this, but it is conservatively estimated that at least $1,574,025 is spent during each show.

Equal Effect.
It is expected that when the Merchandise Mart is completed it will have an equal effect in helping to develop the market. Negotiations are now under way, it was announced last week, to have exhibitors from several foreign nations display their goods at the mart. The countries which will have representation, it is said, are Great Britain, Germany, France, Belgium, Italy, China, and Japan.

WALL STREET VIEWS 1928 AS ANCIENT DAYS

Turns Attention to New Activity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
New York, Jan. 13.—Although the first month of a new calendar year seldom if ever brings perceptible change in the financial situation, it is often marked by change in the financial point of view. That may result from the fact that even Wall Street talks of the old year as the past Christmas week is as much a period of retrospection as of forecast; events of November, even those of July and April, are still part of the existing picture. But every one knows how wearisome retrospection becomes by the second of January. It is almost as if somebody had insisted on discussing events of 1913 after the end of 1918.

Probably this half unconscious attitude was responsible for last week's Wall street endeavor to find something else to talk about, and for the fact that the attitude of the federal reserve was discussed in the new perspective. During the last four months the stock market's only idea of that organization's purposes seemed to be that its attempt to check speculation had failed, that it could do nothing more because further action would disturb business and that it was therefore as likely as not to reverse its recent policies. Last week, on the contrary, the speculative market even laid wagers that an immediate advance in the bank rate would be made.

Most Interest.
The prediction caused more interest on the stock exchange than in bank rates.

PLAN FOR EXCHANGE of Preference Stock and Common Stock of

Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation for Common Stock of

Hupp Motor Car Corporation

DECLARED OPERATIVE

Announcement of Dividends to Holders of Record of Certificates of Deposit January 21, 1929

The undersigned Managers have declared operative the Plan for the exchange of Preference Stock and Common Stock of Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation for Common Stock of Hupp Motor Car Corporation on the following basis:

- One (1) share of Common Stock of the Hupp Company for each two (2) shares of Preference Stock of the Chandler Company; and
- One (1) share of Common Stock of the Hupp Company for each three and one-half (3 1/2) shares of Common Stock of the Chandler Company.

Certificates of Deposit may be presented for exchange for Common Stock and Scrip for fractional shares of Common Stock of Hupp Motor Car Corporation on and after January 23, 1929.

Hupp Motor Car Corporation has declared a cash dividend of fifty cents (50c) a share and a stock dividend of two and one-half per cent. (2 1/2%) payable February 1, 1929, to stockholders of record January 21, 1929.

By reason of this fact additional deposits of Preference Stock and Common Stock of Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation will be received by the Depositaries under the Plan until January 21, 1929. These Depositaries are as follows:

Cities	Depositaries
NEW YORK, N. Y.	GUARANTY TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK
CLEVELAND, OHIO	THE UNION TRUST COMPANY
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS	FIRST TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK

It is contemplated that all Preference Stock and all Common Stock of Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation deposited under the Plan and Deposit Agreement on or prior to January 21, 1929, will on or before said date be exchanged by the Managers for Common Stock of Hupp Motor Car Corporation.

As a result of this, all holders of Certificates of Deposit of record at the close of business January 21, 1929, will receive, on or about February 1, 1929, the stock dividend of two and one-half per cent. (2 1/2%) and the cash dividend of fifty cents (50c) per share on all full shares of Common Stock of Hupp Motor Car Corporation to be issued to them in exchange for their deposited Preference Stock and Common Stock of Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation.

While the Managers retain the power to permit deposits in their discretion after January 21, 1929, in the case of any stockholder of Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation, who for some good reason has not been able to deposit his stock on or prior to that date, it will be impossible to distribute the dividends to any stockholder of Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation who has not deposited his stock on or before January 21, 1929, in accordance with the provisions of the Plan.

All holders of Preference Stock and Common Stock of Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation are, therefore, urged to make their deposits, subject to the Plan and Deposit Agreement on or before January 21, 1929.

is an advantage that bonds always have over other forms of securities. Now they have also the advantage of a higher yield. (High money rates, say the financial reviewers, overshadow the investment situation. That means that it is a good time to buy bonds—a good time to review your holdings and revise your list with a view to a higher average yield. (It is possible, under present market conditions, to select for you sound bonds that will yield 5 1/2 per cent or more. This is a situation that is by no means permanent but it is one that should have the attention of conservative investors. (We will be glad to co-operate with you in making a study of your holdings and in selecting new bonds whose yield will bring up the average return from all your holdings.

Mr. H. S. Black, Chairman of the United States Realty and Improvement Company, and Mr. George A. Fuller, President of the G. A. F. Realty Corporation, summarize from their letter regarding this issue as follows:

The United States Realty and Improvement Company owns the entire issued and outstanding Preferred Stock and over 86% of the issued and outstanding Common Stock of the G. A. F. Realty Corporation. The G. A. F. Realty Corporation has acquired title to site at the northeast corner of 57th Street and Madison Avenue in New York City, and is engaged in erecting thereon a 40-story building to be known as the "Fuller Building." The George A. Fuller Company will occupy several floors as its home office.

The actual investment in the Corporation will amount to approximately $8,690,000, of which $3,000,000 represents the cost of the land, approximately $4,740,000 represents the estimated cost of the building, architect's fees, carrying charges during construction, etc., and approximately $950,000 will represent net current assets. The completion of the building in accordance with the architect's plans and specifications will be guaranteed by the United States Realty and Improvement Company.

The annual net earnings upon completion of the building, after deducting operating expenses, depreciation in the amount of $100,000, and taxes other than income taxes, are estimated at over $600,000.

The Trust Agreement will provide for a Sinking Fund requiring the retirement of $1,500,000, principal amount, of Debentures prior to maturity. The first retirement is to be on or before January 1, 1932, in the amount of $37,500, principal amount, of Debentures, with semi-annual retirements thereafter in progressively increasing amounts.

The United States Realty and Improvement Company will unconditionally guarantee the interest, sinking fund payments, and principal at maturity, of these Debentures. The consolidated net income of the United States Realty and Improvement Company, after depreciation, interest and taxes, for the past several fiscal years ended April 30 has been as follows: $5,421,939 in 1926; $5,523,095 in 1927, and $5,595,052 in 1928. On the basis of current quotations on the New York Stock Exchange, the Common Stock of the United States Realty and Improvement Company represents an aggregate value in excess of $58,000,000.

We offer these Debentures if, as and when issued to, and received by us, subject to the approval by counsel of all legal proceedings. It is expected that delivery in the first instance will be made on or about January 21, 1929 in form of interim receipts of The National City Company.

Public Service Subsidiary Corporation

(A wholly owned subsidiary of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois)

5½% Gold Debentures, Series A

Due January 1, 1949

Price 97, Yielding over 5¼%

The following is summarized in part from a letter of Mr. Samuel Insull, Chairman of Public Service Subsidiary Corporation:

Business: Public Service Subsidiary Corporation, an investment company, acquired upon its organization in December, 1926, certain securities and investments theretofore owned by Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, which Company owns all of the stock (except Directors' qualifying shares) of Public Service Subsidiary Corporation. These assets comprise stock and miscellaneous securities of various corporations affiliated with Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, consisting principally of stock of certain public utility corporations. It is the purpose of Public Service Subsidiary Corporation to continue the acquisition of securities and investments of like character as the growth and expansion of the business of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois demands. The management of Public Service Subsidiary Corporation and Public Service Company of Northern Illinois is identical.

Indenture Provisions: Carefully drawn indenture provisions, more fully described in the circular, cover the issuance of additional debentures, the position of the debentures as regards other obligations, etc. In addition Public Service Company of Northern Illinois will covenant, for the benefit of the holders of these Debentures, that certain provisions as regards earnings, assets and control of the Corporation, will be fulfilled. These protective provisions are more fully set forth in the circular.

Earnings: The following is a statement of earnings for the year 1928, before deduction of interest charges and Federal taxes:

Income	$743,551.05
Expenses	33,868.71
Net income	$709,682.34

The annual interest requirement on the present issue of $6,000,000 debentures will be $330,000.00

A balance sheet of Public Service Subsidiary Corporation as of December 31, 1928, after giving effect to the sale of these $6,000,000 debentures, shows that the investments of the Company are carried on the books at approximately $12,864,000, and, in my opinion, a conservative appraisal of these assets based upon present market conditions would result in a substantially larger figure.

Parent Company: Public Service Company of Northern Illinois serves 301 communities, the majority of which are located in the wealthy suburban territory tributary to Chicago and the surrounding widely diversified manufacturing districts. Electric service is rendered in 298 communities, gas in 99, water in 5, and heat in 4. For the twelve months ended September 30, 1928, it reported net income of $5,913,045 after interest, depreciation and federal taxes. Based on current market prices, its capital stock outstanding and subscribed has a market value substantially in excess of $100,000,000.

A circular fully descriptive of the issue will be sent upon request.

HALSEY, STUART & CO.

INCORPORATED

Dated January 1, 1929 and redeemable. Interest will be payable semi-annually January 1 and July 1 at the office or agency of the company in Chicago and New York without deduction for Federal income taxes now or hereafter deductible in the future, net to extent of 7½%. Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., will be appointed paying agent of the company for the making of such interest payments. Denomination $1,000, negotiable as to principal only. These debentures are offered for delivery when, as and if issued and accepted by us, and subject to approval of counsel. It is expected that temporary debentures will be ready for delivery by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., on or about January 24, 1929. All statements herein are official or are based on information which we regard as reliable, and while we do not guarantee them, we ourselves have relied upon them in the purchase of the security.

CHICAGO STOCK TRADING TOTAL ABOVE MILLION

Fifty Most Active Are Up
$12,317,894.

BY GEORGE HAMMOND.

Prices sawawed throughout most of the week just closed in Chicago stock trading due mostly to considerable hesitancy on the part of traders who feared a stringency in the credit situation. Other than the marking up of call money on one or two days to 7 per cent nothing developed in that direction.

The turnover of stocks almost reached the million and a half share mark. Total sales for the week were 1,431,000 shares, compared with 1,262,000 at the close of the preceding week, and 440,000 in the corresponding period of last year. The total for the year thus far reached 2,458,000 shares, against 742,000 in 1928.

Total Value.

Prices of the fifty most active stocks of the week were enhanced $12,317,894, or 2.88 per cent. The total market value of these issues reached $609,544,572 at the close Saturday, compared American Telegraph and Cable.

M. H. D.—Intrigued by the high yield of about 27 per cent at present prices of a guaranteed 5 per cent stock, a large number of investors have written to us inquiring about American Telegraph and Cable company stock.

There is a very definite reason for the low price at which it is selling on the New York stock exchange.

The company is leased to the Western Union Telegraph company for fifty years from June 1, 1882, at a rental guaranteeing 5 per cent per annum on its $14,000,000 stock.

The stock certificates are so stamped. As the lease expires in May, 1932, it has only a little over three years to run. There is no provision in the lease for renewal and the charter of the company will expire Jan. 15, 1930—one year hence.

In order to devise some plan for the protection of stockholders, a committee has been formed and has requested the deposit of the stock.

Newcomb Carlson, president of Western Union Telegraph company, is quoted with $597,226,678 on Jan. 5, a completion of Lago & Co. shows.

Of the fifty most active issues, only nineteen were traded in on the exchange in the corresponding week last year. These stocks established a gain

He also said that Western Union had made no decision as to what it would do about releasing the two cables between Nova Scotia and England, which the American Telegraph and Cable company represents.

These cables, he said, were practically obsolete and a new cable of Western Union now takes care of most of the business between the two points.

Stockholders of the cable company, in December, 1923, accepted an offer of Western Union to advance funds to pay federal corporation income taxes during the unexpired term of the lease, to be repaid at the expiration of the term with interest at 6 per cent compounded semi-annually.

This will place the company in debt to Western Union to an estimated amount of $945,000 as of May, 1932.

The company's only source of income is the rental mentioned above.

The guaranteed 5 per cent dividend is being paid regularly, but what of the future?

The stock is a pure speculation in view of the facts we have mentioned, which account for its low market price.

during the year of $130,253,355, or 75.92 per cent. The market value of these stocks totaled $278,649,247, compared with $158,395,892.

The largest individual gain of the week was established by Wisconsin

Paris, which sold up 3 points. The company is expected to announce plans for a merger with Timken Roller Bearing today. Monaghan Manufacturing advanced 3 points on reports of good earnings. Oscar J. Martinson, president, announced last night that the company has just closed a contract with the French government for machinery. The company manufactures equipment for excavating and dredging work.

North American Car was pushed up 3/4 over the week by sources connected with the company's market sponsors. Allied Products sold up 7 points on good earnings reports and Salaban & Katz and Bendix each rose 8 points. Bendix is expected to list its stock on the New York exchange. Reports of additional new large orders were also current.

Celotex was not traded in during the week but on the New York curb it lost 2 1/2. Considerable improvement in the earnings of the Celotex company for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1928, is shown in the annual statement of Bior G. Dahlberg, president, issued last night. Establishment of a permanent domestic supply of the company's principal raw material, bagasse, is given as the cause of better conditions in the operations of the company.

Net for the year totaled $1,380,622 after all charges and taxes, equivalent to $6.55 a share on the 154,635 shares of common stock outstanding. This compares with $17.05 or $3.11 a share on 154,313 shares outstanding in the preceding fiscal year. After the payment of preferred and common dividends totaling $826,678 there was a balance of $553,944, which was carried to surplus.

American Founders corporation of New York, an investment organization, reports net income of $3,589,193 in the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, compared to $2,006,132 in the preceding year.

Public offering will be made today of $6,000,000 Public Service Subsidiary corporation 5 1/2 per cent debentures at 97 and interest, yielding over 5.75 per cent. The corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, was organized in 1928 to take over security and investment holdings of the parent company, and now plans to continue acquisition of securities and investments as growth of business demands.

TOPICS OF FINANCE TRADE AND INDUSTRY

With nine fewer mills reporting, under production, shipments and orders showed a good gain in the week ended Jan. 5, indicating a rapid return to normal from the Christmas week decline when many mills operated part time for semi-annual repairs, National Manufacturers' association reports.

Wall street understands the $41,000,000 bond issue scheduled to be awarded today by the city of San Francisco may be split by offering $18,000,000, giving an option on $23,000,000 remaining, and assuming $22,000,000 Siring Valley Water company bonds due for retirement May 1. Reports also are current in the street that a contract for a loan to Roumania will be signed in Paris within the next few days and the bonds offered publicly by an international banking group.

Public offering will be made today of $6,000,000 Public Service Subsidiary corporation 5 1/2 per cent debentures at 97 and interest, yielding over 5.75 per cent. UNDERGROUND FREIGHT TRANSPORTATION

130,000 tunnel cars...the year's volume of through PACKAGE FREIGHT interchanged by RAILROADS through CHICAGO FREIGHT TUNNELS

Story of the Freight Tunnels

As originally conceived the Chicago tunnels were intended to carry telephone wires and cables and about twenty miles of tunnel were completed before the funds of the originators of the enterprise were exhausted. A new company was formed and an amended ordinance empowered it to handle merchandise and packages between stores, warehouses and delivery points. There were twenty miles of tunnel but no connections with buildings along the way. Again the funds of the promoters became exhausted and in 1904 came a new company, new funds and plans that were broadened so that freight could be moved between railroad freight terminals and various commercial buildings and stations. These connections called for operations on private property and the Chicago Warehouse & Terminal Company was organized to construct these connections and furnish the necessary tracks, shafts and elevators to complete the plan. Thus the tunnels were completed and connected with shipping points, and effective operation became possible.

MOST of the great railroads begin or end at Chicago and the currents of railroad traffic meet and part here. The cross-country traveler passes through the "world's greatest railroad center" and uses the coupon from his railroad ticket to pay his bus fare between railroad stations.

Freight moves in the same channels. In train loads or car lots, it is switched from one railroad to another. In smaller lots it is transferred, much by team or truck through the busy streets, and much by tunnel; 130,000 tunnel car loads were transferred last year between railroad freight terminals.

The Chicago Freight Tunnels have connections with all railroad freight terminals. They form an integral part of the general railroad facilities for collecting, distributing and transferring package freight in Chicago. It is a system which saves great amounts of money and time for the railroads, whose facilities are thus amplified and improved. It is a system which helps to maintain Chicago's standing for efficient transportation service and its pre-eminence as the "great central market," and the tunnels take a great burden of heavy traffic off the crowded streets.

The greater the traffic in the tunnels
The smaller the traffic on the streets

Southern Railway Company

Common Stock

Paying Dividends of 8% per annum

Territory: Southern Railway Company, incorporated 35 years ago, operates in all states east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers except West Virginia. Including lines in southern Indiana and Illinois the System comprises about 9,300 miles of track, making it one of the country's leading railroads. The System extends from Washington, D. C., and Cincinnati on the north to Florida and to the Gulf of Mexico with westward lines to St. Louis and Memphis.

Earnings: Earnings available for the Common Stock in each of the past five years have been largely in excess of the present dividend rate of 8% and it is estimated that over $12 per share will be earned on the Common for the full year 1928, and that, including the Company's equity in undistributed earnings of the affiliated companies, the earnings will be about $13.40 per share.

Dividends: Dividends are now being paid on the Common Stock at the rate of 8% per annum. The initial dividend on this issue was paid on May 1, 1924 at the rate of 5%. The rate was increased on February 1, 1926 to 7% per annum and raised to 8% beginning with the quarterly payment on February 1, 1928.

Future: With a sound financial structure, able management and excellent physical condition of road, the Company should benefit substantially from the anticipated large scale economic growth of the area served. At current market prices the yield afforded by this stock is materially higher than that now available from the common stocks of most railroads of comparative strength and prospects.

ing circles, which were aware that the federal reserve moves very deliberately in such matters. But the stock exchange could at least cite the interesting precedent that in all other years but one in which the trend of money rates have been upward, the official bank rate was raised in the first weeks of the twelfth month. The New York rate was advanced in January of 1928 and 1929, in February in 1925 and 1926, and in no advance was made until November in the high money year 1919, that was because the treasury insisted on keeping down the rate and because the pledge to redoubt loans on the fourth Liberty bond at the rate of interest paid by the bonds themselves had not yet expired.

Probably the reason for action early in the other years was the favorable situation of the market at the time, and February and the dull season of general trade, so that higher discounting rates do not come with a discounting shock. The question of the moment, therefore, whether existing circumstances are likely to make an advance advisable.

What Answer Will Be.

The answer will depend on two considerations—the state of the credit market as affected by stock exchange activities, and the condition of the federal reserve itself. The credit position is admittedly not favorable. It is true, the fury of stock speculation has abated, but brokers' loans are still the barometer of speculative activity, and that loan account was shown last Thursday to be $1,493,000 above the amount which caused financial uneasiness last year, and only $25,000 below the production of the maximum at the climax of the November mania.

Nor is the showing of the federal reserve itself particularly favorable. Their reserve ratio has risen from the very low point of the year-end settlement week, but it is far well below the percentage reported at this time in any year since 1921. Compared with the average for this date in the intervening period the system's ratio is down 8 per cent and that of the New York bank 14 per cent.

There remains necessarily the question of developments in the general situation during the next few weeks. Thorough readjustment of the speculative position, should it occur, would cause the absorption of Wall street borrowings to some definite purpose, might change the whole perspective.

General Effect.

In 1928 and 1929, two not at all unprosperous periods, a reasonably prolonged readjustment of the market down an over extended brokers' loans account by 23 per cent in the one year and 30 per cent in the other, and the effect on the general situation was entirely salutary. But the current reduction of last November, each quickly followed by return to the previous mark, has higher, more serious, and more permanent effect on the mood of the speculative market.

It would hardly be safe to say that the mood has definitely changed. The impression is, rather, that a certain amount of outside public is still waiting at the door for the game to reopen.

You'd hate to be without an overcoat from now until Spring—and, if the engine in your car could say so, it would feel the same way about being without Sinclair Aircraft Gasoline.

When the sharp, biting Northwinds beat against your hood and leave your engine cold as an icicle, this remarkable gasoline fires on the first click of your starter! This flying fuel starts cold engines fast—keeps them running smoothly without a stutter or a sputter...gives superior summertime performance in the coldest winter weather.

Give Sinclair Aircraft Gasoline a test—give your starter and battery a rest—and get from your engine its best performance no matter how low the thermometer drops.

This Ace of High Test gasolines is guaranteed to meet Army, Navy and Bureau of Mines Specifications for Aviation Gasoline, domestic grade.

Antoinette Tells How to Apply Hot Wax Depilatory

A correspondent claims that after an application of a hot wax recommended as a quick solution of her superfluous hair trouble, she suffered great embarrassment because of the "red and angry looking upper lip."

Correspondent does not say whether she gave the treatment herself, or had it done. But a warning is not out of place here about following instructions to the letter when using a wax depilatory. It is so important to have the mixture removed before the wax gets too cold, and there is a certain alacrity needed to peel the preparation off quickly after it has remained on the prescribed amount of time.

Done carefully, a good wax preparation may be a most satisfactory form of treatment. If you feel unskilled in the performance, why not have a professional give at least one demonstration? If you observe her carefully, then you can do it better alone. But even with the professional treatment it is well to choose a late hour of an evening which you plan to spend alone. There must be to a skin of average sensitivity, a slight redness, so that it is wiser not to have the operation done by yourself or any one else a few hours before you are going out in company.

Some skins are not so troubled. But others may be red for twenty-four hours. In such emergency, a greasing with an antiseptic cream and then a powdering may be adopted.

No matter what method is employed for the removal of superfluous hair, I think it the better part of wisdom to use an antiseptic cream immediately after. Whether you shave under the arms, or use a liquid, powder, paste, or wax depilatory there is bound to be a slight irritation which the cream allays.

Where there is only a slight downy growth on the upper lip, the bleaching is best. Peroxide and ammonia are the ingredients used.

This bleaching is necessary only when the hair is dark enough to create a dusky shadow. On a blonde the growth need not be tampered with unless it is more than a fine, downy growth.

B.: THE ODORS THAT EMANATE from the body are caused by acids and other chemical materials which exist in the natural secretions of the body, perspiration, breath, etc. The less water in the system the more will these chemical odors pervade the atmosphere surrounding the person. Keep the bowels open. Drink six glasses of water every day.

Cites Lincoln and Stevenson as Those Who Beat Handicaps

Citing Robert Louis Stevenson and Abraham Lincoln as typical examples of men who accomplished great things despite hardship, the Rev. Albert W. Beaven told the Sunday Evening club audience last night in Orchestra hall that troubles often are mere stepping stones.

"For fourteen years I have never had a real day's health," he quoted from Stevenson. "I have written in bed and written out of it, written in sickness and written torn by coughing when my head ached from weakness."

"Some point to their lack of education," Dr. Beaven said, "as an excuse for not being able to do great things in life. But let us not forget that if we were asked to name ten of the finest gems of English literature, most of us would include Lincoln's Gettysburg speech, though his early opportunities were so small that he had to cipher out his own arithmetic with a piece of burnt wood on the back of a shovel by the flickering light of a wood fire."

The speaker then added that when Thomas A. Edison made a survey of the men in his employ who were achieving success, he found that a large majority of them had some great hardship to overcome.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Serving Roast Lamb.

Not long ago I saw advertised that prize lamb would be served at a certain dining place, so I posted thither to see just how prize lamb would taste. Alas, and alack, the cook, like most other professional cooks, had used his bottle of commercial sauce in making the gravy, and so the meat had that universal flavor which such cooks give to beef, pork, lamb, everything, when some of us like so much better the unique and special flavor of each sort of meat brought out, instead of being reduced to this monotonous sameness.

Fortunately, the service consisted of two slices of lean lamb with a rib bone, a nice cover of lean and fat in between them. The fat on a prize lamb is excellent eating with mint sauce, and that was served with the lamb in question, as was some jelly, but the latter was too commercial, also, for my taste. Commercial sauces have their place, but please, please give the eater a chance to choose whether he will have the sauce or not. That used to be done in the old days.

Now, the fat on that roast had not taken the seasoning of the sauce and could take that of the mint sauce as could the lean if it had not been soaked with the brown gravy. Since that fat saved the day for me, I have thought that it was a point worth mentioning because so many people never eat the fat of any roast. When well cooked it is delicious, and even the fat around a broiled lamb chop is quite as edible, unless it is scorched and only half cooked. I thought the merry way of serving that roast lamb quite superior, and so was the more disappointed that the lean was spoiled.

For me, and interested that the fat was not.

To see the way that meat are wasted everywhere when they are so prime food, and an invaluable in cold weather, gives me great worry. I stepped into a place the other day where chickens were turning on an iron or being spit cooked, as they used to say, while they now say barbecued. I was all ready to sit down and eat some of this chicken because some one had been asking me how the sauce was made, but the smell of the fat, the greasy look where there were not great flocks or flocks that disgorged the roasting fowl, made it impossible for me to do so. Much fat was being used and abused.

The Spirit of Piracy Crosses Footlights at "Treasure Island"

BY THALIA

Nothing could have been more flattering to the players in the Junior league's "Treasure Island," which opened on Saturday morning at the Harris theater, than the charming misbehavior of their audience.

A battle of program pages, folded into those intriguing "gliders," equal in vigor to the ferocious activities on the stage, took place between each act, with the result that the theater floor was a snowy mass of the missiles.

Hours of juvenile impatience and shouts of "Hurry up" and "Put up the curtain," and various other manifestations of approval punctuated the between scenes intermissions and almost drowned out the practical music that Helen Reed had composed for the occasion. Excited they may have been, but every child was attentive as could be during the play, and every one of them stayed until the close at quarter past one.

Everybody stayed, too, to see Rosemary Saur and Whitlock Duncan go up on the stage to receive the pictured editions of "Treasure Island" that the pirates found for them in the treasure chest because they had drawn the lucky marked programs.

I thought the play was corking, with all the cast doing good work in carrying out the buccannery and adventuresome spirit of the book. Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr., who could barely have gotten home to take off her Twelfth Night ball costume before it was time to put on "Jim Hawkins" suit and wig, did the hero of the play delightfully, and everybody regretted that Bill Bones, played to perfection by the newcomer here, Mrs. Norman MacLellan, had to die in the first act.

Mrs. George Haskell played the important part of Long John Silver, with an amazingly realistic peg leg, with commendable fervor, and the pirate band was bloodthirsty enough to satisfy the staidism in the little humans across the footlights. Katherine Adams and Jane Gordon as Squire Trelawney and Capt. Smollett were good, too, and Mrs. Charles E. Lindsay's scenery was most effective.

The Leaguers, not content with the success of their theater, have evolved a new scheme for giving all the latent talent in its ranks a showing. An arts and interests committee has been formed, with Mrs. Russell Barnes as chairman, to engineer a series of programs on the last Monday of every month from now till May. The musical program for this month is in charge of Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr. In February there is to be a literary program, with Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams managing. March will have a theater meeting with Mrs. Walter Puckett making the plans; April, an

The Art Institute's weekly news letter carries an obituary of the late William McCallin McKee, whose death from pneumonia occurred during the Christmas holidays. "By his personal contacts and friendships with men of talent in the arts Mr. McKee had won many new supporters for the department of prints and drawings, and it was rapidly developing into one of the most important departments of the museum. His work and his influence will be greatly missed," the article concludes.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers gave further evidence of their reputation for hospitality at the large and fashionable tea they gave yesterday afternoon at their apartment at 1100 Lake Shore drive for Madame Italo Montemont and several of the members of the opera company. Most of the guests had previously attended the opera, "The Love of Three Kings," composed by Madame Montemont's husband, and in which Miss Mary Gardner, who also attended the tea, sang. Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers received between 5 and 7 o'clock.

Hostesses at the Drama league program this afternoon at the Arts club will include Mrs. George Carter Howland, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mrs. Marvin E. Miner Jr., Mrs. George A. Poole, Mrs. Paul Shorey, and Mrs. Frank R. Wheeler. Mrs. William E. Wright is in charge of the arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Edwin Church of Evanston announce the birth of a daughter, Mary Williams, on Jan. 8 at the Evanston hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Larned Greeley, whose wedding took place on Dec. 31, have returned from a trip to the east and have taken an apartment in Hubbard Woods. Mrs. Greeley was Miss Katharine Richardson, daughter of Mrs. William Minard Richardson of Boston.

Mrs. Edward C. Crockett of 1206 Lake Shore drive will leave on Thursday for Pasadena to be with her mother, Mrs. James A. Rankin of that city, until Easter. Mr. Crockett will join her in a few weeks, leaving here on the 26th.

The Chicago Civic Opera company has issued invitations for a musical to be given for the Friends of Opera at 8:30 o'clock on Monday, Jan. 21, at the Drake hotel ballroom.

Mrs. Julius Hefeler of 1643 East 54th street announces the engagement of her daughter, Joan, to Herbert Klee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Klee of Evanston.

Mrs. Albert Mohr of 7207 South Shore drive is one of the hostesses for the benefit card party to be given this afternoon at the Hotel La Salle for the Chicago Home for Aged Persons at 5438 Inglish avenue. Mrs. Percy Cook is chairman. Mrs. J. R. Hollister, Mrs. Edward J. Rogers, Mrs. John M. Wanless, Mrs. T. B. Sachs, Mrs. W. H. Fink, Mrs. Mary Welles Noyes, Mrs. T. E. Wells, Mrs. E. G. Carr, Mrs. A. C. Dallas, Mrs. C. C. Virgil, Mrs. Z. E. Martin, Mrs. Nathaniel Webb, and Miss M. B. Baker are among the women sponsoring the affair.

$10,000 Auto Gift to Anita Stewart from Her Fiance

BY GEORGE SHAFER.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Anita Stewart and George Peabody Converse may have surprised their Hollywood friends this week by announcing their engagement in San Francisco, but a Hollywood auto salesman must have been informed, for when Anita returned to Hollywood there was a $10,000 automobile as an engagement present.

Miss Stewart had traveled to San Francisco, as had her fiancé, for her debut there in a combination stage, singing and motion picture act, entitled "Anita Stewart in Hollywood," a skit produced jointly by her and Converse. Anita is the star. Mr. Converse is the producer.

Converse is blond, handsome 25, with relatively financially entrenched in New York and Boston. Miss Stewart is a former New York high school girl, who went into the film in her teens. Converse is a son of the late Edmund Cogswell Converse, and has spent six years at Heidelberg.

He met Miss Stewart in a Los Angeles attorney's office. Converse was married to Mrs. Olivia Converse of Santa Barbara, Cal., in 1923. Miss Stewart had been married in Darien, Conn., in May 1918 to Rudolph Cameron Brennan, clubman, actor, naval officer. Neither marriage had been a success. Converse was a friend of George Stewart, brother of Anita.

George Stewart was ailing. Neither Converse, George Stewart, nor Anita now recalls exactly when he stopped calling to cheer George and began to call to see Anita.

In their case two divorces will equal one marriage, for Miss Stewart has announced that they will wed on or about July 4, 1929. That date is exactly one day from the day on which her interdictory decree of divorce from "Rudy" Cameron Brennan becomes final, according to California law.

Pan-American Consuls Are Guests at Luncheon Today

The Pan-American Consular corps, an organization of all consuls from Central and South America to Chicago, will have a luncheon Thursday in the English room at Mailiard's, as guests of the National Patriotic association. Mrs. Charles Wendell Holmes, president of the patriotic association, said the luncheon is to become an annual event. "We are entertaining them in recognition of their services in furthering friendly relations between the South American countries and this country," Mrs. Holmes said.
